Members of the Press.

Chairman Waldrip called the regular session meeting of the Board of Trustees of the University of Arkansas to order at 1:37 p.m. on Wednesday, January 30, 2019, at UAMS in Little Rock, Arkansas. Prior to opening the regular session, the Board had met at the Criminal Justice Institute for a tour and heard a presentation regarding the institute from Dr. Cheryl P. May, its director. Dr. May’s report to the Board is set out below:

UA Board's Visit to the Criminal Justice Institute
January 30, 2019

The Director and staff of the Criminal Justice Institute (CJI) are very proud to be a separate unit of the University of Arkansas System. We are tremendously grateful to the UA Board of Trustees for taking time to visit our campus and learn more about the services we provide that impact communities across the State.

The CJI provides advanced education and training to a unique population of non-traditional students-certified law enforcement professionals who are actively employed within our State's police departments and sheriff's offices. CJI does not provide basic police academy classes, but does have a very good relationship with the Arkansas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Training, partnering on projects whenever possible to expand the resources made available to the Arkansas law enforcement community.

The vision of the Criminal Justice Institute is to make communities safer one officer at a time.

CJI staff is committed to making communities safer by supporting law enforcement professionals through training, education opportunities, resources and collaborative partnerships.

Given the reality of limited resources, we have tremendously valued and benefited from collaborative partnerships. Such partnerships have allowed CJI to provide many more resources to meet the unique and dynamic needs of the Arkansas law enforcement community.

The training, education opportunities and resources we provide law enforcement professionals, enhances their proficiency and professionalism and in doing so, assists agencies in solving and preventing more crime in their communities. If citizens feel safe and their quality of life is enhanced, the economic viability of the community is also enhanced. People want to live in a community which is safe and where they can attain a high quality of life. The proficiency and professionalism of those entrusted with public safety directly impacts the economic viability of their community. Consequently, CJI impacts the economic viability of communities all across the State. The state appropriation for CJI has been flat for 12 straight years. In addition, in 2001 the state appropriation for CJI was cut from $3.1 million to $1.5 million. This lost appropriation funding has never been restored. In order to continue to evolve in meeting the needs of law enforcement professionals in this fiscal climate, beginning in 2010, numerous steps were taken to become more efficient and effective. These steps included a transition to electronic documents for schedules and course manuals, not filling some vacant staff positions, using contract as opposed to full-time instructors, completing a reorganization, and for the first time in CJI's history, developing and implementing a membership fee for access to some of our advanced and specialized training. These initiatives have allowed CJI to expand the programs and projects available to the Arkansas law enforcement community and become a nationally unique organization. Compared to enrollment figures for 2010, CJI has more than tripled (4,600 attendances in 2010 vs. over 17,000 in 2018) the number of attendances without any additional state appropriation.

CJI provides both classroom-based, with practical, hands-on applications, and online courses in advanced and specialized topics. The courses and programs offered build competency and proficiency as well as provide opportunities for professional growth and development.

Below are CJI's FY18 statistics:

- 677 classes delivered statewide
- 17,076 officer and deputy attendances
 - Over 8,500 individual officers/deputies benefiting from CJI classes
- Courses delivered in at least 65 different locations across the State
- Over 300 different law enforcement agencies being served

CJI offers the following programs for members of the Arkansas law enforcement community:

- Distinguished Programs

 - A total of 46 different courses were delivered in FY2018
- Forensic Sciences for Law Enforcement Program
 - Comprehensive program to assist law enforcement in identifying, documenting, processing and preserving physical evidence from a crime scene. The courses offered assist both the patrol and investigative functions of law enforcement agencies. Arguably one of the most comprehensive forensic sciences programs for law enforcement in the country.
 - Offer basic, specialty and advanced courses, to include:
 - Bloodstain Pattern Documentation, Bloodstain Analysis and Interpretation; Use of Forensic Light Sources; Recovery of Human Remains; Shooting Scene Investigations; Crime Scene Reconstruction and Interpretation; Cold Case Investigations; and Finger Print Comparison and Identification, etc.
 - The CJI facility contains a state-of-the-art teaching forensic laboratory, series of mock crime scenes and an outdoor area that allows significant hands-on applications and assessment of crime scene techniques and processes. The quality of and breath of courses applied within this facility has allowed Arkansas law enforcement the opportunity to become some of the most proficient crime scene specialist in the country.
 - A series of courses is also offered that focus on crimes, such as internet crimes against children, the use of social media in investigations, cell phone investigations, etc., that involve the use of computers and similar technology.
- Illicit Drug Initiative
 - Drug crimes are the most common type of crimes in communities across the state.
 - The top two drug threats in Arkansas are methamphetamine and opioids, such as pain killers, heroin and fentanyl.
 - CJI's Illicit Drug Initiative offers a comprehensive series of courses designed to enhance the proficiency of narcotics investigators. This program has been the primary source of training in drug investigations for the Arkansas law enforcement community. Courses offered include:

- A series of courses focusing on the investigation of methamphetamine-related crimes; Drafting Search Warrants and Affidavits; Hotel/Motel Interdiction; Criminal Interdiction; Mexican Drug Trafficking Organizations; Advanced Prescription Drug Diversion Investigator PDMP Certification; Heroin and Fentanyl Abuse; Informant Management and Control; Roadside Interview Techniques; and Surveillance for Rural and Urban Officers.
- Traffic Safety Program
 - Since 1992, CJI has been awarded grant funding from the Highway Safety Office of the Arkansas State Police (ASP) to provide training to Arkansas law enforcement personnel involved in traffic enforcement to assist in reducing the number of alcohol and drug related fatalities on Arkansas roads and highways.
 - CJI offers courses that focus on the recognition of alcohol impaired drivers and enforcement of Arkansas seat belt usage laws. CJI provides this training at all but one of the basic police academies in the state and offers refresher training to police and sheriff's departments across the state.
 - Drug Recognition Experts (DREs) are the elite of law enforcement personnel involved in traffic safety enforcement. DREs, in addition to being trained to recognize alcohol impaired drivers, are also specifically trained to recognize the use of drugs, other than alcohol, by drivers. DREs are the only traffic enforcement personnel qualified by courts to testify concerning the impact of illicit and prescription drugs on the behavior of drivers. CJI works with the ASP, National Highway Traffic Safety Administration and the International Association of Chiefs of Police to ensure nationally recognized training standards are applied.
 - CJI's Traffic Safety Program Manager also serves as the State DRE Coordinator and is responsible for ensuring all DREs meet the national requirements for certification and recertification.
- Arkansas Center for School Safety
 - Since 2002, CJI, through federal and state funding (including monies from Governor Asa Hutchinson and Arkansas Attorney General Leslie Rutledge), has provided school safety leadership and training to reduce violence in Arkansas schools and help provide Arkansas's children with the opportunity to reach their true academic potential.
 - CJI has been the sole provider of school safety training for Arkansas law enforcement and school personnel. CJI is the primary trainer of school resource officers (SROs) in the state. SROs are certified law enforcement officers working in schools and focus on not just enforcement, but also most importantly, prevention, mentorship and informal counseling to help reduce violence in our schools. Based on CJI's annual census of SROs, there are currently 370 SROs in the state.

- In July of 2017, the Arkansas Department of Education (ADE) Commissioner, Johnny Key, and CJI Director, Dr. Cheryl May, executed a memorandum of understanding (MOU) forming the Arkansas Center for School Safety (the Center) under the umbrella of CJI. Through this MOU, the Center was identified as the one stop shop for school safety training and resources for Arkansas law enforcement and school personnel. The execution of this MOU to form the Center made Arkansas only one of 18 states to have a state-sanctioned school safety center.
- Each year the Center offers a variety of courses that assist SROs in fulfilling their important functions in schools and also offers courses for law enforcement and school personnel to assist them in conducting school safety assessments and audits, developing and implementing effective all hazard emergency operation plans and drills, implementing anti-bullying, drug, suicide and violence prevention programs, responding to active shooter events, forming and implementing behavior threat assessment teams and other school safety related topics. The Center also provides a series of resources on its website (www.arsafeschools.com) available to schools as guidance on a variety of school safety related issues.
- Since 2014, Dr. Cheryl May has served as Chair of ADE's legislatively mandated Safe Schools Committee. This committee has been involved in evaluating school safety related policies and procedures and making annual recommendations to the Arkansas Senate and House Education Committees that will improve safety in our schools.
- Online Learning Center
 - Since 2011, through an initial Office of Community Oriented Policing Services grant, CJI has been engaged in the development and implementation of online courses for law enforcement personnel.
 - CJI online courses enhance the accessibility of training for department personnel that serve both urban and rural communities and are designed so students can participate from work or home, spend less time away from their agency and move at their own pace.
 - Online course evaluations completed illustrate how critical these courses are to rural law enforcement agencies that are restricted by staffing and financial limitations. Many rural participants have expressed that without these online courses they would not have access to critically needed training and limit proficiency and professional development opportunities.
 - To date, CJI has developed and implemented a total of 31 different online courses focusing on a variety of general and specialized public safety topics. Courses range in length from 3 hours to 24 hours and cover the topics of supervision and leadership, domestic violence, interacting with individuals with autism and behavioral health issues, ethics, communication, report writing, crisis intervention, human trafficking, bullying prevention, drug endangered

- children, eyewitness evidence, basic crime scene evidence and four different methamphetamine related courses.
- To assist law enforcement professionals in meeting a legislatively mandated requirement to annually complete a course in racial profiling, CJI developed and is delivering a 3-hour racial profiling online course that saves agencies considerable expense in delivering face-to-face instruction to meet this requirement. Each year thousands of officers complete this program. To enhance their learning experience, the racial profiling course is updated with new videos and scenarios each calendar year.
 - During FY18, over 8,000 attendances were recorded for online classes.
 - National Center for Rural Law Enforcement
 - The National Center for Rural Law Enforcement (NCRLE) was established under CJI's umbrella in 1997 to help meet the unique needs and challenges of police departments and sheriff offices that serve rural communities nationally.
 - Through Office on Violence Against Women (OVW) grants, CJI has developed and delivered several online courses designed to assist rural law enforcement in investigating sexual assaults and provide them with a critical victim centered strategy. CJI's NCRLE has received funding from OVW since 2011 for this project.
 - The OVW funded online courses are:
 - Sexual Assault Investigations for the Rural Executive; Sexual Assault Investigations for the Rural Investigator; and Sexual Assault Reporting Writing.
 - Agencies serving rural departments in 37 states have benefited from these programs.
 - Center for Information Technology
 - Beginning in 2004, CJI received funding from the U.S. Department of Homeland Security to develop and deliver cybersecurity training for information technology staff servicing state and local critical infrastructure. CJI has developed and delivered hands-on training in the protection from and response to cybersecurity attacks for information specialists.
 - In 2010, CJI along with the University of Texas, San Antonio formed the National Cybersecurity Preparedness Consortium (NCPC) to serve the cybersecurity needs of state and local partners.
 - In 2013, NCPC membership expanded to include the University of Texas A & M, Norwich University and the University of Memphis. The Consortium has been funded by FEMA since 2013 to provided cybersecurity training (both classroom-based/hands-on and online) and exercises to assist states and units of local governments. The Consortium has been awarded FEMA grants in 2014, 2015, 2016, 2017 and most recently 2018. CJI was the designated principal investigator in the Consortium grant for 2015 ($2.5 million) and 2018 ($2.0 million).

- Collectively, the Consortium's training and exercises have been accessed by over 60,000 participants in 49 states.
- Currently there is pending federal legislation co-sponsored by U.S. Senators Cornyn (Texas), Cruz (Texas), Leahy (Vermont), Boozman (Arkansas) and Cotton (Arkansas) to recognize the work of the Consortium.
- In December of 2018, Dr. Cheryl May was elected by the Consortium members to serve a three-year term as Chair of the Consortium.
- Academic Partnerships for Law Enforcement Education Opportunities
 - In 2003, through executed memoranda of understanding with 22 higher education institutions (17 two-year colleges and 5 universities), CJI facilitated a unique educational opportunity for active members of the law enforcement community to earn certificates and associates of applied science in crime scene investigation and law enforcement administration.
 - Only select CJI courses which meet core competency requirements and included proficiency or performance evaluation and maintained instructor education qualifications were included.
 - These CJI core competency courses were then combined with general education courses to develop certificates of proficiency, technical certificates and associate of applied science degrees in crime scene investigation or law enforcement administration granted by the two- or four-year institutions.
 - In 2009, in partnership with the UA Community College at Hope, the law enforcement administration programs were significantly revised.
 - In 2018, again in partnership with UACC-Hope, through UA Board of Trustees and ADHE Coordinating Board approval, both associates degrees were reduced to 60 hours of college credit and the law enforcement administration certificate of proficiency was modified such that all required course hours could be taken online.
 - Currently, 600 law enforcement professionals are in an academic status with one of these programs through CJI.
 - These certificates and AAS degrees provide some law enforcement professionals with education opportunities they would otherwise not have.

Often the staff of the Criminal Justice Institute are asked to lead and participate in projects designed to be multidisciplinary and collaborate. Below are several examples of such collaborative partnerships and operationalized training.

- Arkansas School Safety Commission.
 - On March 1, 2018, in the wake of the horrific shooting at Parkland High School in Florida, Governor Asa Hutchinson formed the Arkansas School Safety Commission (the Commission) through executive order to determine the current state of school safety in Arkansas, identify best practices and provide recommendations to make Arkansas's schools safer.
 - Governor Hutchinson appointed Dr. Cheryl May as Chair of the Commission and appointed 17 other individuals with expertise and knowledge in school

- safety to serve on the multidisciplinary Commission from March 1, 2018 to November 30, 2018.
- From March 1st through November 30th, the Commission met 18 times, hearing presentations from 33 individuals such as subject matter experts, school resource officers, commissioned school security officers, school safety specialists, school administrators, school board members, teachers, students, law enforcement personnel and the general public.
 - The Commission also visited 12 schools across the state and developed and summarized the results from a school safety survey administered to all school districts in the state.
 - The Commission developed a series of 30 recommendations in the topics of mental health and prevention, law enforcement and security, audits, emergency operations plans and drills, intelligence and communication, and physical security.
 - As required by the Governor's executive order, the Commission delivered their preliminary report to the Governor by July 1, 2018, with the final report and recommendations being provided to the Governor by November 30, 2018.
 - Child Abduction Response Teams
 - In early 2016, at the request of then Representative Bill Gossage and with partial funding from Attorney General Leslie Rutledge, CJI was asked to coordinate and facilitate the U.S. Department of Justice (DOJ) certification of Child Abduction Response Teams (CARTs) in Arkansas. CARTs are multiagency, multidisciplinary teams that are pre-organized and practiced teams designed to activate immediately in the event of a missing, abducted or endangered child.
 - Unfortunately, the longer time it takes to start activities to find a missing, abducted or endangered child, the less likely the child will be recovered safely. The CART process ensures there is no delay in response and the chances of successful recovery of the child are maximized.
 - CART certification is administered by the DOJ Amber Alert Training and Technical Assistance Program. To date, there are currently only 50 certified CARTs nationally in local or county areas. To date, there are no statewide certified CARTs. When completed, Arkansas will become the first state to have statewide certified CARTs and in doing so, ensure all of Arkansas's children are protected.
 - CJI has partnered with the Amber Alert Training and Technical Assistance program and the Arkansas State Police to form the CARTs and to deliver all training required for certification.
 - Thanks to the leadership of Colonel Bill Bryant and the ASP Troop Commanders, a CART was formed in each of the ASP troops across the state.
 - To meet the certification requirements, CJI developed the Arkansas CART Executive Board MOU which formalizes partnerships between the Criminal Justice Institute, Arkansas State Police, Arkansas Attorney General's Office,

- Arkansas Department of Community Correction, Arkansas Game & Fish Commission, Arkansas Association of Chiefs of Police, Arkansas Sheriff's Association, Arkansas Prosecutor Coordinator's Office and the Arkansas Department of Emergency Management. A citizen-at-large representing victim and family advocacy will also sit on the Board. The Arkansas CART Executive Board will oversee the activities and standard operating procedures of the statewide CARTs.
- CJI also developed local CART agreements to be executed at the local level between local agencies agreeing to respond and provide resources and personnel in the event that a child goes missing or is endangered or abducted.
 - All CARTs are required to follow standard operating procedures (SOPs). These SOPs were developed by CJI in coordination with the Amber Alert Program.
 - On March 12th and 13th, all 12 CARTs developed in the state will participate in a full call-out exercise and be evaluated by Amber Alert assessors at the Game & Fish Training Center in Mayflower. This will be the last step in the statewide certification process.
 - Following statewide CART certification, CJI will coordinate all Arkansas CART recertification requirements and facilitate the activities of the Arkansas CART Executive Board.
 - Naloxone Administration and Opioid Overdose Prevention Projects
 - In 2017, more than 72,000 people died from a drug overdose in the U.S. That means that each day in 2017, 198 people died from a drug overdose in this country. More than two-thirds of these individuals (over 42,000) each year die from an opioid overdose, with more than 132 people dying every day from an opioid overdose. Because of the spike in overdose deaths, the life expectancy in the U.S. has dropped two consecutive years, 2015 and 2016. This increase in overdose deaths is being attributed to heroin and synthetic opioids like fentanyl which are significantly stronger than heroin or pain pills like oxycodone and Percocet. Naloxone is a category of drugs that can temporarily reverse the effects of an opioid and provide sufficient time for the individual to be transported to the hospital. Naloxone has been used to temporarily reverse the effects of thousands of opioid overdoses and save the lives of thousands of individuals in the U.S.
 - Through the Arkansas Naloxone Project, a partnership between the Arkansas Drug Director's Office, CJI and numerous local and county first responders, the lives of more than 200 Arkansans have been saved.
 - With a 2018 $125,000 grant award from the Blue & You Foundation for a Healthier Arkansas, CJI trained 17 Arkansas law enforcement agencies in administering Naloxone and distributed 1,300 Naloxone kits (containing 2, 4mg doses of Narcan and personal protective equipment) to these agencies. Before being provided kits, these agencies must also adopt standard department policies on the use of Naloxone and develop a formal relationship with a medical - director, who will evaluate each Naloxone administration. Thus far, 23 overdoses have been reversed with the kits distributed. Narcan has a shelf life of at least 20 months, so the impact of the kits provided will continue beyond the time period of the grant award.

- CJI also received a 2019 $150,000 award from the Blue & You Foundation for a Healthier Arkansas to provide naloxone administration training to 36 law enforcement agencies or local fire departments. Following the development and approval of naloxone policies and MOUs with a medical control physician as well as the completion of naloxone administration training, these first responders will receive a total of 1,390 Naloxone kits between now and the end of 2019.
 - Through a series of SAMHSA grants awarded to the Arkansas Drug Director's Office and subcontracted to CJI, the Institute is working with a series of high-risk targeted counties in the state in an effort to reduce the number of opioid overdose deaths in the state. CJI has been awarded a series of grants through the Drug Director's Prescription Drug Overdose (PDO), State Targeted Response (STR) and State Overdose Response (SOR) grants. Each of these grants are similar in project design but differ in respect to which high risk counties are provided services. CJI has received over $3 million in funding, collectively, from these grants.
 - High risk counties are identified by an independent organization using a variety of data.
 - Each of these grants consist of two separate arms. One arm focuses on Naloxone administration and the other focuses on community prevention efforts.
 - The Naloxone Administration piece of the grants provides standard Naloxone kits to first responders in high risk counties using the same criteria identified in the Blue & You Foundation grants discussion above. In addition to providing first responders with Naloxone administration training and kits, CJI provides a train-the-trainer program in Naloxone administration to drug treatment center staff, who will then train families in recovery and provide them with kits. Individuals in recovery are particularly vulnerable to overdose if they use again due to tolerance issues and the prevalence of the significantly stronger fentanyl being in the drugs they use. It should also be noted that the kits CJI provides to first responders also contain drug treatment information that is provided to the overdose victim to encourage them to seek treatment.
 - The community prevention efforts included in these grants include:
 - The formation and facilitation of local advisory councils that assist CJI in the dissemination of prevention materials such as those that promote Don't Run Call 911, the Good Samaritan Law and the State's standing order for Naloxone as well as literature designed to help citizens better communicate with their physicians about opioids. These local advisory councils also provide CJI guidance on how best to implement various types of media campaigns in their community.

- Implementation of media campaigns that help citizens better understand the use of pain medicine and the dangers of opioid addiction and overdose. These media campaigns also promote the value of the Arkansas Take Back Project and the need to properly dispose of unused opioids and other prescription medicines. Media campaigns have utilized:
 - Billboards, social media such as Facebook and Twitter, radio ads, TV ads, movie theater promotions, and a phone app that will provide the general public with naloxone administration training and other valuable resources.
- To date, the above strategies have been implemented in five high risk counties across the state and are currently being implemented in five additional counties as well as providing the naloxone administration piece to several selected state agencies, such as the Arkansas State Police and the Arkansas Department of Community Correction. CJI has also partnered with the Arkansas Department of Education to make naloxone kits available to all school nurses.
- Crisis Intervention Training Project
 - During the 2017 legislative session, Governor Hutchinson made the formation of Crisis Stabilization Units (CSUs) across the state a priority due to the large number of individuals with mental health issues being sent to prison. Rather than arresting individuals and sending them to jail, the Governor's plan involves the diversion of individuals in crisis to the stabilization units where they will be evaluated and treated. An important element in assisting the Governor in realizing the benefits of CSUs, is the need to train law enforcement personnel to recognize when an individual is in crisis and to know when the transfer of these individuals to the CSU in their area is warranted.
 - CJI and the Arkansas Commission on Law Enforcement Standards and Training (ACLEST) partnered to provide the needed training to law enforcement professionals across the state and in the catchment areas of each of the CSUs. ACLEST and CJI worked collaboratively to develop a two-day training program implemented in all basic law enforcement academies. ACLEST also provided a 40-hour classroom-based program that certifies officers as crisis intervention specialists. CJI was tasked to develop a nine-hour and a two-hour online course for veteran officers (officers and deputies that have already completed a basic law enforcement academy). The nine-hour class was designed to increase the officer's awareness of mental health disorders and how to use more effective strategies that ensure their safety and the safety of the citizen in crisis. The two-hour class was designed to inform the veteran officer or deputy of Act 423 of 2017 and its requirements for law enforcement agencies and personnel.
 - Since April 2018, the nine-hour Behavioral Health and Crisis Intervention Response for Law Enforcement Online has been completed by almost 1,000

- officers/deputies and the two-hour Crisis Intervention Response for Law Enforcement Online has been completed by more than 350 officers/deputies.
- Maltreatment and Drug Endangered Children Project
 - Since 2010, through funding from the Office of Community Oriented Policing Services and Governor Asa Hutchinson, CJI has been engaged in the Maltreatment and Drug Endangered Children Project, designed to fundamentally change the way law enforcement personnel, children and family service case workers, school staff and community correction officers interact for the benefit of drug endangered children (DEC) and their families. DEC are children who live in homes where their parents/caretakers are engaged in illicit drug activities. These children, because they live in a drug environment, are at risk of physical and sexual abuse and neglect. Many of these children are also at risk of becoming drug and child abusers as adults simply because they grow up believing the families they live in are normal. More children die each year from neglect than physical abuse. DEC are at significantly more risk for neglect, therefore it is critical that these children and their families are identified as soon as possible. Once identified, appropriate intervention strategies for the children and their parents can be implemented and potentially break the cycle of drug and child abuse in these families. Many of these families continue to repeatedly cycle through the Department of Children and Family Services because only their symptoms of child abuse and neglect are identified. Unfortunately, the potential root cause of these symptoms, illicit drug activities, cannot be accurately identified by social service professionals who are not educated or trained to recognize illicit drug activities. However, through a collaborative partnership with local law enforcement, the influence of illicit drug activities can be identified and parents/caregivers provided with the services needed to break this cycle.
 - Traditionally, law enforcement and social service professionals work in silos with little, if any, communication or collaboration. The early identification of DEC and their families is designed to break down these silos and allow law enforcement personnel and children and family case workers to communicate and work collaboratively for the benefit of DEC. Each discipline also has myths they perpetuate about each other. For example, social service workers believe that all law enforcement officers are only interested in the arrest of the parent and removal of the child(ren) from the home. That is not accurate. CJI has designed a two-day workshop and collaborative process, including data collection, to break down many of the barriers for cooperation and communication between these professions and impart on both a better understanding of the roles and responsibilities of each profession. These workshops and implemented process also enhance the communication of both professions with community correction and school personnel. Most people are on probation or parole because of illicit drug activities and many have children.

- Therefore, community correction officers often have contact with DEC when their clients violate probation or parole because of illicit drug activities. Again a lack of understanding of each other's role and responsibilities results in a lack of communication and missed opportunities to intervene on behalf of a DEC. Finally, schools often see the symptoms of maltreatment through the behavior of the students they see and interact with daily. Discipline issues, absenteeism, poor academic performance, etc. may be the result of the trauma that the student is experiencing at home. To make schools more aware of specific traumatic events such as a parent's arrest, the process initiated in this project encourages communication between law enforcement and children and family case workers and the schools for the benefit of the DEC.
- o The maltreatment and drug endangered children workshops and process have been implemented in 12 counties across the state. Prior to implementing this program in more counties, seven of the original counties will receive additional training and services to further develop a process of accreditation for these communities.

Chancellor Cam Patterson, M.D., MBA, presented an update on UAMS. His remarks included news of support from the Arkansas General Assembly and the Governor for UAMS' push for National Cancer Institute (NCI) Designation for the Winthrop P. Rockefeller Cancer Institute. He noted that having an NCI-designated cancer center in Arkansas would give Arkansans access to cancer research and therapies not currently available in state. He also noted that NCI Designation is projected to have an annual economic impact of $72 million on the state of Arkansas and create more than 1500 jobs over five years.

Dr. Patterson's remarks also included news of substantial improvement in UAMS' financial position; growth in regional programs and, at the Northwest Campus, the renewal of UAMS' research agreement with Arkansas Children's Hospital; work on the 10-year strategic plan, and the establishment of a UAMS Institute for Digital Health and Innovation. He introduced Dr. Curtis Lowery, former chair of obstetrics and gynecology in the UAMS College of Medicine, who will serve as institute director.

Dr. Patterson's remarks were followed by a video about UAMS and remarks by two UAMS students, Paula McClain, of Forrest City, a first-year student in the College of Medicine, and Ashton Cheatham, a third-year student in the College of Pharmacy.

10. Executive Director's Report: Dr. Marta Loyd, WRI:

Dr. Marta Loyd, Executive Director and CEO of the University of Arkansas Winthrop Rockefeller Institute, made a brief presentation to the Board that touched on the legacy of Governor Winthrop Rockefeller, the mission of the Institute and a sampling of recent programming efforts. The Institute brings people together to discuss issues and problems through collaborative and respectful dialogue with a diversity of opinions represented. The Institute calls this the "Rockefeller Ethic." This is the approach Winthrop Rockefeller used to solve issues of his day and it is the approach modeled for him by his mother, his father and his grandfather.

A few recent programs Dr. Loyd shared as examples include:

- Beyond Civility—a program that brought 60 high school students from five school districts together to engage in meaningful and respectful dialogue around the topic of race to promote mutual understanding and resolve conflict. Their respective legislators from the Arkansas House of Representatives attended to discuss the role of civility and dialogue in their legislative service.
- Under 40 Forum—a partnership with the Clinton School of Public Service that brings together young leaders from across the state to address complex issues of interest to state and local elected officials and leaders statewide.
- Uncommon Communities—a community development program that produces community leaders equipped to work together in the areas of leadership, economic development, education, workforce development, and quality of life and place.
- Rural Health—a partnership with UAMS and partially funded by the Blue and You Foundation that convened Arkansas health care workers across disciplines with the goal to ensure better health outcomes for rural Arkansans through coordinated collaboration. This effort also involved convening a Student Summit for 60 medical students from UAMS and the two osteopathic schools in Arkansas, as well as leaders from all three medical schools to discuss opportunities for collaboration.

Dr. Loyd closed her presentation by talking about the generous gift of more than $100 million from the Winthrop Rockefeller Charitable Trust to the University of Arkansas Foundation. She stated that the Institute is soon to embark upon a 5-year strategic planning effort which would include representatives from the UA System.

Dr. Stephanie Gardner, UAMS Provost and chair of the board for the Institute, made closing comments endorsing the work of the Institute both now and in the future.

11. Approval of a Resolution of Appreciation to the Winthrop Rockefeller Charitable Trust:

Upon motion of Trustee Gibson; second by Trustee Pryor, the following resolution was approved:

WHEREAS, in 1953, Winthrop Rockefeller, fourth son of one of the world's wealthiest and most powerful families, left New York City to relocate to Petit Jean Mountain, a distinctive and beautiful flat-topped formation on the south bank of the Arkansas River, where he turned a 927-acre spread into a cattle farm before answering the call to public service to run for and eventually win election as the 37th Governor of Arkansas in 1966, serving two terms in which he established a legacy of leadership in civil rights, education, economic development and government reform; and

WHEREAS, Gov. Rockefeller once said that, "Every citizen has a duty to be informed, to be thoughtfully concerned, and to participate in the search for solutions," and in that spirit, he established the Winthrop Rockefeller Charitable Trust to perpetuate that vision by continuing his broad philanthropic and civic work after his death in 1973; and

WHEREAS, in 2005, the Charitable Trust, in coordination with the University of Arkansas System, provided an initial grant to establish the Winthrop Rockefeller Institute on the site of the former Winrock Farms as an education and conference center to nurture ideas and activities that could make life better for Arkansans and support the mission of the university to advance teaching, research and public service; and

WHEREAS, the Charitable Trust has since continued to partner with the UA System to support the Institute's operation and mission to promote the legacy of Gov. Rockefeller as a catalyst for positive change through advancing knowledge and identifying solutions to key issues facing Arkansas, its region and the world; and

WHEREAS, since its inception, the Institute has hosted and sponsored a wide variety of civic, cultural and educational programs and activities, including the convening of significant conferences on topics such as nanotechnology, radiation-related medical research, rural health care and youth leadership, among others; and

WHEREAS, the Institute is firmly committed to bringing constituents with diverse viewpoints together to solve problems collaboratively through respectful dialogue in order to create lasting change and positive impact; and

WHEREAS, the recently announced gift of more than $100 million from the Charitable Trust to the Institute creating The Governor Winthrop Rockefeller Endowment will provide ongoing operational funding for the Institute and its broad range of education and civic programs and conferences; and

WHEREAS, the endowment, to be held at the University of Arkansas Foundation, represents the largest-ever gift to the Institute, allowing it to continue, in perpetuity, to share the legacy of Gov. Rockefeller through collaborative problem-solving and respective dialogue around important topics and challenges;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS THAT the Board acknowledges with deep gratitude the more than $100 million gift from the Winthrop Rockefeller Charitable Trust to the University of Arkansas Foundation, Inc. to create the Governor Winthrop Rockefeller Endowment for the continuing operations of the Winthrop Rockefeller Institute;

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED THAT the Secretary of the Board shall furnish a copy of this resolution to the members of the Winthrop Rockefeller Charitable Trust and this resolution shall be spread upon the minutes as a permanent record of the Board's appreciation.

WHEREAS, the activities involved in the proposed extracurricular camps at the various campuses of the University of Arkansas present no conflict of interest with the mission and purpose of the institution; and

WHEREAS, the continued success of the University of Arkansas Baseball Program has further contributed to increased nationwide interest in the program and in baseball throughout the state. Accordingly, the University of Arkansas Athletic Department and Coach Dave Van Horn would like to offer additional prospect camps to focus on developing fundamentals of hitting and infield play. This will also allow the program to continue to remain competitive with other schools throughout the country. It will provide a period of instruction/evaluation, as well as educate young athletes and their families on our strong academic offerings and provide them an opportunity to tour our facilities and campus; and

WHEREAS, the contemplated activities could generate other funds on campus to be paid to the University for housing and meals and for the use of other institutional facilities which will be used to help support the auxiliary functions of the campuses serving to enroll students;

WHEREAS, the University feels this is vital for its program to continue to attract the best junior baseball players in the country and that the activities proposed will bring to campus a number of potential students who might enroll on campus as a result of their exposure to its facilities and its personnel while engaged in these activities; and

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS THAT the Board hereby grants permission for the extracurricular camp set out below to be conducted during 2018-19 and approves the fees as shown.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED THAT the University of Arkansas shall make certain that policies and contractual provisions are in place to assure that all applicable laws and regulations dealing with mandatory reporting of suspected child maltreatment are followed, that appropriate staffing patterns are utilized, that personnel involved in the conduct of such camps receive instruction in applicable policies, procedures, laws and regulations regarding protection of children, and further that campus officials shall assure that persons involved in the conduct of such camps have undergone criminal background checks (including registered sex offender checks). 13. Approval of New Board Policy 420.3, Sick Leave, All Campuses and Units:

General Counsel JoAnn Maxey and Associate Vice President for Benefits and Risk Management Services Steve Wood presented new Board Policy 420.3, Sick Leave, to the Board. Upon motion by Trustee Harriman and second by Trustee Pryor, the following resolution was approved:

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS THAT Board Policy 420.3, Sick Leave, is hereby adopted and approved as set forth below.

BOARD POLICY 420.3

SICK LEAVE

I. Definition

Sick leave is a benefit available to University employees who are employed half-time or greater and on at least a nine-month appointment period. Paid sick leave is not granted as vacation leave and can be used only when: (1) the employee is unable to perform the employee's regular duties because of sickness or injury or (2) for treatment by or consultation with a licensed health care provider.

Sick leave may also be granted to employees due to the death or serious illness of a member of the employee's immediate family. Immediate family shall mean the employee's parent, sibling, spouse, child (including an adoptive child), grandparent, grandchild, in-law, or any individual acting as a parent or guardian of the employee. Serious illness for the purpose of this policy includes pregnancy- and maternity-related health conditions.

II. Requests for Sick Leave

An employee shall be required to furnish to his or her supervisor a certificate from an attending health care provider for five or more consecutive days of sick leave and may be required to furnish a certification for purposes of the Family and Medical Leave Act (FMLA) for a serious health condition that continues for three or more consecutive days. An employee may also be required to provide a medical certification for other absences under a campus, division or unit attendance policy reviewed by the Office of General Counsel. A certificate from a Christian Science practitioner listed in the Christian Science Journal may be submitted in lieu of a physician's certificate.

Each campus, division, or unit is authorized to establish and enforce policies requiring employees to make timely notification to supervisors in the event that unscheduled sick leave is required, and regarding return-to-work procedures.

Requests for sick leave shall be submitted in advance, unless the circumstances make this impracticable. In that event, a request for sick leave must be submitted within two days after the employee returns to work.

III. Sick Leave Accrual

An eligible, full-time (100%) employee accrues sick leave at the rate of eight hours for each complete month of service, up to a maximum annual carryover of 960 hours. Eligible employees working less than full time accrue sick leave in the same proportion to time worked.

Sick leave may not be accumulated during a leave without pay when such leave totals ten or more days within a calendar month.

When an employee is laid off due to budgetary reasons or curtailment of University activities and within six months again becomes an employee of the University, accrued sick leave may be restored to his/her credit.

IV. Use of Accrued Sick Leave

A. General

Sick leave is granted on a basis of work days and not calendar days. It is deducted from the employee's accrued sick leave in increments of not less than one-fourth hour. Non-workdays such as weekends and holidays falling within a period of sick leave are not charged as sick leave.

Sick leave may be granted only for a period when the employee is in an appointed status. For the purpose of this policy, academic employees who are in pay status during the summer term will be considered to be in appointed status. For academic employees on less than a 12-month appointment, sick leave that begins during the Spring Semester shall not extend into the Summer Session and may resume in the Fall Semester if the employee is otherwise eligible for sick leave and has received a benefits eligible appointment for the Fall Semester.

Absence due to illness or disability, except in case of leave for pregnancy- or maternity-related health conditions, is charged first to sick leave, and next to any remaining available leave in the order dictated by payroll procedures.

B. Worker's Compensation and FMLA

An employee who is absent from work due to a temporary occupational injury or illness and who is entitled to Worker's Compensation Benefits may, upon proper application, utilize their accrued sick leave as a supplement to Worker's Compensation so as to receive weekly benefits from both sources equal to but not in excess of their normal weekly pay at the time of the injury or onset of illness. This option, when exercised, will reduce the employee's accrued sick leave on a basis proportional to the sick leave pay being claimed. An employee receiving Worker's Compensation benefits for a permanent disability is also eligible to utilize accrued sick leave.

Sick leave shall run concurrently with leave taken under the Family and Medical Leave Act.

C. Maternity-Related Health Conditions

Sick leave may be taken for pregnancy- and maternity- related health conditions and will be treated as any other leave for sickness or disability except that: (1) no health care provider certification will be required for the first four weeks following the birth of the child, and (2) the employee taking leave for a pregnancy- or maternity- related health condition may elect to take leave of absence without pay without exhausting accumulated annual and sick leave. Upon return from leave the employee will be given the same or comparable position to the one occupied prior to the leave. The employee is expected to provide the employee's supervisor as much notice as possible prior to beginning leave for a pregnancy- or maternity-related health condition, and at least two weeks' notice prior to returning to work from pregnancy- or maternity- related leave. Both notices must be in writing.

V. Payment for Accrued Sick Leave at Retirement

In compliance with Arkansas Code 21-4-501, classified employees who retire from the University are eligible for payment of a portion of accrued sick leave in the employee's final pay. For the purpose of determining eligibility for accrued sick leave payout, classified employees whose employment is voluntarily terminated will be considered to have retired when: (1) as of the date of termination the sum of the employee's age and continuous years of service with the University is at least seventy (70) and immediately prior to termination the employee has completed ten (10) or more consecutive years of service with the University; (2) as of the date of termination the employee is age 65 or older and immediately prior to termination has completed five (5) or more consecutive years of service with the University; or (3) the employee has retired under an early retirement agreement approved by The Board of Trustees of the University of Arkansas.

Academic and non-classified employees who retire receive no payment or other compensation for accrued sick leave.

Temporary Provisions

1. This policy supersedes and replaces the sick leave policies set out in Board Policies 420.1 and 420.2.

2. The standard for determining eligibility for accrued sick leave payouts to Classified employees in Section V. of the policy is effective June 30, 2019.

3. Those 2-year campuses that currently pay academic and non-classified employees for accrued sick leave, may continue doing so until June 30, 2019.

4. For those campuses with current practices not consistent with this Policy, the President may make individual exceptions, through December 31, 2019, for final pay of accrued sick leave for retiring employees.

14. Unanimous Consent Agenda:

Chairman Waldrip presented the Unanimous Consent Agenda. He stated that items on this agenda are ones in which the Board has traditionally been in unanimous agreement. Upon motion by Trustee Eichler and second by Trustee Gibson, the following resolutions were adopted:
