8. Authorization for Expense Reimbursement for Each Board Member for Performing Official Board Duties for Calendar Year 2022:

Upon motion of Trustee Gibson and second by Trustee Eichler, the following resolution was adopted:

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS THAT the Board of Trustees, by a majority vote of the total membership, authorizes expense reimbursement for each board member for performing official board duties in calendar year 2022.

9. Campus Report: Dr. Christina Drake, Chancellor, UALR:

Chancellor Christina Drake delivered a campus report entitled “Connecting Our Students to Arkansas’s Future” which focused on three critical elements that position UA Little Rock students for a successful post-graduation career: access, student support, and community connections. Her presentation included a short video featuring industry and community partners who have found enormous value in the relationship with UA Little Rock. Following her talk, three students—Stephen Malec, Turner Hudson, and Nikki Mullen—shared stories about their unique experiential learning opportunities.

10. President’s Report: Donald R. Bobbitt, University of Arkansas System:

President Bobbitt expressed appreciation to Chancellor Drake and her staff for hosting the Board and the UA System. He reported that the System welcomed three new academic leaders to the UA System. Victoria DeFrancesco Soto, Dean of the J. William Clinton School of Public Service; Dr. Alec Barker, Director of the Arkansas Archaeological Survey, and Dr. Brian Shonk, Chancellor of the University of Arkansas Community College at Batesville. He thanked Ben Beaumont, UA System Senior Director of Policy and Public Affairs, for his assistance in the Clinton dean search; UA System Vice President Chris Thomason for his work in leading the Batesville search, and Ms. Shavawn Smith, Arkansas Archaeological Survey Assistant Director for Fiscal Affairs, for organizing and helping lead the Arkansas Archaeological Survey search.

President Bobbitt recognized UA System Vice President and Chief Financial Officer Gina Terry who is retiring after providing over 20 years of exceptional service to the system. He also recognized Chancellor Margaret Ellibee, UA Pulaski Technical College, who has announced her retirement effective June 30, 2022. Vice President Chris Thomason will lead the search for her replacement.

President Bobbitt updated the Board on the search for the Vice President of Agriculture. The search committee will meet February 15 for a tutorial on reviewing candidates in Workday. He thanked Dr. Christina Miller, the Division's Chief of Staff for her hard work in organizing the search process.

Dr. Bobbitt concluded by thanking the chancellors and campus leaders once again for their exceptional work in managing their institutions during this period of challenge. The hard work was rewarded in December when commencement ceremonies were celebrated on many campuses to recognize students and their families. He also gave special acknowledgement to the individuals at UAMS for their heroic efforts to comfort and care for those afflicted by Covid, injury and illness.

11. Whole Health Initiatives Presentation: {taken up prior to B&G Committee}

Alice Walton, Founder, Whole Health Institute and Whole Health School of Medicine, briefed the Board on her passion for the health of the whole person – physical, mental, and spiritual and how this passion led her to establish the Whole Health Institute and the Whole Health School of Medicine and Health Sciences in Bentonville. The goal of the Whole Health Institute and the School of Medicine is to work with the State of Arkansas and the University System to become leaders in transformation in the health care industry that will change our position within the nation and turn us into leaders in healthcare transformation.

Tracy Gaudet, MD, Executive Director, Whole Health Institute, stated the goal is to empower and equip organizations wanting to address the health and well-being of their workforce and the people they serve. Dr. Guadet also highlighted their collaborations with the UA System and UAMS.

Walter Harris, Chief Operating Officer, Whole Health School of Medicine, stated the School of Medicine is focused on having physicians walk through the patient’s life in their training and having them understand body, mind and soul are the way to become better caregivers. The school of medicine was founded one year ago and is currently working toward accreditation. Their curriculum is based on the health and well-being of their students so they can translate that into taking care of their patient’s whole health.

Master of Arts in Art History in Arts of the Americas in the School of Art

1. Expected cost to students to earn the credential o Total estimated cost of tuition and fees for 36 credit hours equals $18,036.72.

2. Expected starting salary
   o Starting salaries for graduates with an MA degree in art history are variable depending on the specific career path (curatorial work, registrarial work, development, or education), the institution (museums, non-profit arts organizations, for-profit galleries, and so forth), and location across the country. According to the workforce analysis prepared, the average entry level salary for curators is $38,300 and, for archivists, is $39,900. These numbers are consistent with regional salaries in art history positions. Current job listings posted on the American Alliance for Museums job board also indicate comparable starting salaries for similar positions nationally, with higher salaries in major metropolitan areas or at traditionally prestigious institutions:
     i. John Walsh Fellowship in Museum Education, Yale University Art Gallery (MA required, 1-2 years of experience): $41,000 - 53,000
     ii. Exhibition Research Associate, The Morgan Library & Museum (MA required, 1-2 years of experience): $40,000 - 42,000
     iii. Curatorial Fellow, Harvard Art Museums (MA required, 0-1 years of experience): $50,000
     iv. Assistant Curator, The Getty (MA required if no experience, or 2-4 years of experience): $64,872

3. Expected salary after 5 years
   o Expected salaries for graduates with an MA degree in art history will again vary by career path, institution, and location, and may also increase substantially if job holders enter managerial or administrative roles. According to the workforce analysis report, the average salary for curators with experience is $62,200; for archivists with experience, it is $71,700. These numbers are also consistent with regional salaries in art history jobs. Current job listings posted on the American Alliance for Museums job board further corroborate these salaries for job holders with approximately 5 years of experience:
     i. Assistant Curator, Dallas Museum of Art (MA required, 3-5 years of experience): $60,000
     ii. Curator of Programs & Engagement, The Contemporary Austin (3-5 years of experience): $50,000 - 65,000
     iii. Associate Curator of Education, Phoenix Art Museum (5-7 years of experience): $53,000 - 55,000
     iv. Curator-at-Large, The Phillips Collection (MA required; 5-7 years of experience): $80,000 - 85,000
     v. Director of Curatorial Affairs, Madison Museum of Contemporary Art (MA required; 7-10 years of experience): $65,000 - 95,000

Master of Arts in Art History in Arts of the Americas

NEW DEGREE PROGRAM

1. PROPOSED PROGRAM TITLE:

Master of Arts in Art History in Arts of the Americas

2. PROPOSED STARTING DATE:

Fall 2023

3. CONTACT PERSON:

Dr. Ketevan Mamiseishvili, Interim Vice Provost for Academic Affairs
E-mail Address: kmamise@uark.edu; Phone Number: 479-575-8635

Jennifer A. Greenhill, Endowed Professor of American Art, Inaugural Director of Graduate Studies and Museum Partnerships with the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art; E-mail Address: greenhila@uark.edu; Phone Number: 217-419-5168

4. PROGRAM SUMMARY:

The School of Art proposes a Master of Arts (MA) degree program in Art History in Arts of the Americas. No such degree program exists in the state of Arkansas. Our proposed program is supported by an annual endowment in the amount of $280,000 from the Walton Family Charitable Support Foundation.

This two-year MA program, housed within the School of Art at the University of Arkansas, is conceived in collaboration with the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art. This partnership creates a special opportunity for cross-institutional education, which is rare among art history programs. The Williams College Graduate Program in the History of Art, a partnership between Williams College and the Clark Art Institute offering an MA degree in art history, is the closest analogue to what we are proposing. But our program is different, more focused, and arguably more forward-looking by offering a specific focus in arts of the Americas.

We have chosen this particular focus for a variety of reasons, including our location, our growing and world-class resources in American art, broadly conceived, and our commitment to leveraging these resources to expand access to the arts, which we see as essential to building better futures in society. We aim to support students in our region, and beyond, who may come to the academy through untraditional paths. We want to honor their unique trajectories and ensure their capacity to thrive by removing one of the most significant barriers that has tended to restrict access to art history: financial cost. Our program, which covers the cost of tuition and provides a generous stipend, will offer a fully funded pathway toward a wide range of careers in the arts. We will prepare students for top PhD programs in art history, but we also want to facilitate other trajectories for those seeking to contribute to the arts and society with an MA degree. The museums and other arts organizations in our region demonstrate how far an MA degree in art history can take students in the art world. Our MA program will give students the interdisciplinary training and robust work experiences that they will need to thrive with an MA degree in industries that value visual literacy, creativity, communication, collaboration, research, and other skills.

As a faculty, we are committed to thinking about the arts and creative practice in a global context. But we believe that a specialty in arts of the Americas will allow us to best meet an urgent need in art history departments, museums, and the broader art world today: to expand the range of perspectives included in our art institutions, and to examine the legacies of Western canon formation on collecting practices, for example, and art historical pedagogy. Art historian Kamini Vellodi has recently underscored “art history’s complicity with the colonial sovereignty of Western empires, and the reinforcement of this complicity through the early histories of universities and museums that comprised the dual institutionalizing origin of the discipline.” In formulating this new MA program, we have asked ourselves how we might educate students to productively intervene in this inheritance. How might an emphasis on the Americas push us to diversify the knowledge systems recognized and cultivated by art historical research? How might Indigenous wisdom and modes of knowledge, for example, put pressure on the methodological Eurocentrism of art history and what it has historically presumed to be universal? How can we foreground transnational and transcultural narratives over nationalist ones that risk reinscribing center and periphery hierarchies? What can we learn from contemporary artists who are interrogating art world structures that marginalize or repress difficult institutional histories? How can we use the university and the museum as a training ground for refocusing interpretive energy in ways that matter to the lived experiences of creators and other art workers?

These are some of the questions animating the thinking behind our partnership with the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art in a graduate program that prepares students to grapple with what art history means and can do in the twenty-first century. Our focus on the Americas facilitates and serves this mission. Approaching the discipline as a contested field of ideas, histories, collections, sites, and ways of working, we seek to give students the analytical tools they need to analyze the perceptual systems of the past and recognize the implications of these systems in the present. We want them to be able to critically interrogate art’s histories, and to creatively envision meaningful institutional and social change through the arts. We of course recognize that change of this magnitude does not happen overnight, but we are committed to contributing to the long-term work of our discipline by educating MA students in a multivocal and inclusive art history.

The Crystal Bridges Museum and its contemporary and performing arts satellite, the Momentary, are committed to inclusive presentations of American art and support this effort. The museum has recently announced well-funded initiatives focused on Native American art and on American craft—an inherently inclusive field that has historically been more open to women, immigrants, and people of color. By studying works of art, materials, and practices that have traditionally been marginalized in art historical discourse, students will have opportunities to reshape accepted histories with every research project. In addition to the Crystal Bridges Museum and the

1 About a third of the curators at the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art and the Momentary hold BA or MA degrees but not PhDs. A member of the leadership team of the Creative Arkansas Community Hub & Exchange (CACHE) holds an MA degree in art history and is also part of the governor-appointed Arkansas Historical Preservation Review Committee.

Momentary, students will also have access to the Arkansas Archaeological Survey, the University of Arkansas Museum, the Fine Arts Center Gallery, the Museum of Native American History in Bentonville, and other repositories. Regional museums, such as the First Americans Museum in Oklahoma City, OK (set to open in September 2021), the Philbrook Museum of Art in Tulsa, OK, and the Nelson-Atkins Museum in Kansas City, MO, offer additional opportunities to expand learning in day trips.

Direct study of museum collections will be enhanced in our program by hands-on training in various techniques and practices of art production, via workshops in the School of Art, co-taught courses with faculty in Studio, Graphic Design, and Art Education, and regular dialogue with the practicing artists and designers who are our colleagues. Students will learn to support their firsthand observations by thorough research drawing on archival, primary, secondary, and unconventional source materials. We seek to empower students to develop their own unique voices as they explain creative cultural production and analyze the contributions of artists to society. They will learn to present their ideas clearly to multiple audiences and in a variety of written and oral formats. The museum will provide an especially rich context for this work. In courses taken with curators, students will learn how to tailor exhibition labels for diverse publics, for example, and distill complex arguments into frameworks accessible to general audiences.

Our curriculum is organized around key “Themes” that we deem essential to understanding both the arts of the Americas and the social impacts of creative practice, historically and in the present: Environment, Heritage, Power, Circulation, Structures and Systems, Identity and Community (See 7. Curriculum). This moves away from the geographical and distribution requirements that still organize most art history programs. People, objects, and ideas migrate across time and space to resonate transculturally, cutting across national borders and period-specific affiliations. We have endeavored to structure our curriculum to bring this out, and to give students a voice in shaping their own intellectual agenda. To that end, we will require students to write a self-assessment at the end of each semester, summarizing the ways in which they have explored one or more of our key themes in their coursework and research projects during that term, perhaps reflecting on how their thinking has changed over time. This self-assessment will give students a share in designating which courses fulfill which theme and help them to communicate their interests and goals as they proceed through the program—skills that will be essential in their future professional lives.

Our program’s effort to build collaboration, exchange, and a diversity of interdisciplinary perspectives into the graduate program’s infrastructure is showcased in the Collaborative Teaching Initiative we are developing. The program gives faculty and students the opportunity to work directly with a “visionary” beyond our institutional borders, a figure who may be situated in a different cultural, disciplinary, and/or generational context. Curiosity-driven collaborative courses have the potential to raise the stakes of the seminar experience for students by directly involving them in the research agenda and critical practice of pathbreaking creators in academia, the museum world, and beyond. Exposing students to multiple perspectives on specific materials and/or problems would help to develop their critical thinking, analytic, and interpretive abilities, inspiring a greater flexibility of mind and an openness to unusual or unfamiliar approaches. By modeling respectful idea-sharing and debate, instructors would provide an example that students might follow in their future work, both intellectually and as citizens in the world. We envision offering one such collaborative course per year to start, with the goal of offering two per year as we grow. We will prioritize scholars and creators of color in selecting these visitors each year. The visionary selected for participation in the program will be required to co-design the syllabus with our faculty, participate in at least 6 class meetings virtually (or in person, if this is possible), and make one visit to Northwest Arkansas during the semester to meet with students and offer a program (academic, creative, and/or public) at the university, Crystal Bridges, or another partnership site.

The collaborative teaching initiative, and the immersive travel components of our program will develop cultural sensitivity among our students and expose them to new ways of seeing, thinking, communicating, and working. Students may choose between a 10-day intersession option for local site visits (offered annually), and a 5-week summer session option for destinations farther afield, including internationally (offered whenever faculty are available to teach, hopefully every other year once we have 11 full-time faculty members).

The regularly offered, ten-day local travel option will visit sites and collections in the Southern U.S. This travel course will give students access to understudied (and, in some cases, undervalued) collections, build on growing interest within the field of American art history in art of the South, expose students to multiple methods of analysis developed for a variety of institutions and publics, and connect students to scholars and museum professionals across our region. The course will support our graduate program’s mission to demonstrate the value of diverse perspectives and skill sets to creative research.

Led by at least two grad program faculty representatives and other partners, the trip will be anchored by three major museums in cities that can be reached by car within 3.5 hours. These anchoring institutions will rotate every three years, shifting the geographical parameters of the trip and expanding our network. Anchoring institutions will be determined based on exhibitions schedules and the availability of museum staff to meet with the group and offer access to collections. Small and off-the-beaten-path museums, public monuments, archival repositories, and contemporary artist studios will be consulted in the vicinity of, and on the road between, the anchoring institutions. These destinations will change each year to ensure variety and build new connections. In addition to working with our colleagues in museums, we will call upon scholars in academic institutions to accompany us to specific sites and share their research.

The itinerary for May 2023 (our pilot of the course, with advanced undergraduates) begins in Birmingham, AL, and spends two days in the city, visiting the Birmingham Museum of Art (anchoring institution 1), the Birmingham Civil Rights Institute, and speaking directly with contemporary artists, such as Joe Minter, and meeting with the leaders of the Souls Grown Deep Foundation, with which Minter is affiliated. We will invite University of Alabama Art History faculty members, Wendy Castenell and Rachel Stephens, to join us and share their research. We envision the Montgomery Museum of Fine Arts in Montgomery, AL, as the second anchoring institution in this itinerary. In addition to consulting this world-class collection of American art, students will visit The Civil Rights Memorial, The National Memorial for Peace and Justice, The Legacy Museum, and the Equal Justice Initiative Museum and Memorial. The High Museum in Atlanta, GA, is just over two hours away by car and is anchoring institution 3 for this itinerary. Sites we are considering visiting in Atlanta include the National Center for Civil and Human Rights, the Atlanta Cyclorama at the Atlanta History Center, and the Millennium Gate Museum, which holds collections of 2nd century Native American pottery, 18th century decorative arts and material culture, paintings, and sculpture.

This course is developed in collaboration with the Birmingham Museum of Art (BMA) in Birmingham, Alabama. Serving in the role of consultant, Graham Boettcher, the R. Hugh Daniel Director of the BMA, is co-designing the itinerary with the Art History Graduate Director. We are also working to develop a partnership with the Courtauld Institute of Art’s Centre for American Art in London, England. The Centre’s Director, David Peters Corbett, is interested in sending five MA students to NWA to participate in the course. By welcoming students pursuing advanced degrees in art history within another cultural context, we will be supporting our graduate program’s mission to demonstrate the value of diverse perspectives and skill sets to creative research. By introducing a diverse group of London-based graduate students to works of art and artists in Southern collections, we will be helping to support American arts research outside of the U.S. and potentially guide scholarship toward Southern topics. As noted above, we will pilot this course with advanced undergraduates in May 2022.

For the 5-week, summer session version of the Immersive Travel Course, students will spend 2-3 weeks away, bracketed by 1-2 weeks on campus, at both ends of the course. Cultural sensitivity training will be part of preparation for travel. We hope to pilot this program with advanced undergraduates in June 2023, studying Mesoamerican, modern, and contemporary art in Mexico. Ana Pulido Rull, Endowed Associate Professor in our program, will co-lead this course with one of our artist colleagues in the School of Art, another Art History faculty member, and/or perhaps also a faculty member from the Fay Jones School of Architecture, which has a robust study abroad program in Mexico City.

The itinerary, in development, includes one and a half weeks of seminar meetings in Fayetteville before travel to Mexico City, Puebla, and Oaxaca. In Mexico City, students will visit major museums, such as the National Museum of Anthropology and History (Museo Nacional de Antropología e Historia) and the Jumex Foundation for Contemporary Art and visit the archaeological sites of the Aztec Main Temple (Templo Mayor) and Cuicuilco. They will study the murals of Diego Rivera, José Clemente Orozco, and David Alfaro Siqueiros murals at the Palace of Fine Arts (El Palacio de Bellas Artes). In Puebla, students will visit the International Museum of the Baroque, the Biblioteca Palafoxiana, and Puebla Cathedral, among other sites. In Oaxaca, they will visit several archaeological sites, study colonial art at the Church of Cuilapan de Guerrero, the Basílica de la Soledad, and the Cathedral of La Asunción, and tour the Museum of Contemporary Art from Oaxaca (Museo de Arte Contemporáneo de Oaxaca), the Manuel Álvarez Bravo Photography Center, and galleries and textile workshops, especially in Nochixtlan. After two and a half weeks in Mexico, students will return to campus for one final week of class in Fayetteville. The University of Arkansas has a strong study abroad program and existing relationships with institutions in Mexico City and Puebla; senior leadership at the Universidad Popula Autonoma des Estado de Puebla (UPAEP) are University of Arkansas alums, and Puebla is the second largest summer study abroad destination at the university, with a robust infrastructure for exchange. Professor Rull, a graduate of the Universidad Nacional Autónoma de México (UNAM), will draw on an extensive network of contacts in Mexico to arrange tours and conversations with museum professionals, scholars, and artists. The Study Abroad Office will provide all the necessary institutional support and assist with the logistical arrangements. We expect this to be the first 5-week Immersive Travel Course offered for the students who enter the graduate program.

These group trips, and the professional development we require in the form of curatorial and research internships that students may take at Crystal Bridges and the Momentary, as well as at Art Bridges, The University of Arkansas Press, Creative Arkansas Community Hub & Exchange (CACHE), Art Ventures, and/or elsewhere, will put the skills acquired in the classroom to work out in the world in a wide range of contexts. All incoming students will be matched with specific departments and/or projects at Crystal Bridges/the Momentary for a minimum 8-10 hour-per-week internship during their second semester in the program. They may forego their slot for an internship at another institution farther afield and/or during summer or other periods when class is not in session with the approval of the Graduate Director. The total number of internship hours should fall between 112 and 150 hours during the 15-week semester. (This fits with the 112.5 hours per three credits expected by the ADHE for “clinical, practicum, internship, shop instruction or other self-paced learning activities involving work-related experience with little or no out-of-class preparation.”) Students may pursue additional institutional internships if this training does not interfere with their progress through the program.

Students may undertake internships with staff at Crystal Bridges and the Momentary in the following departments: Collections (including collections management, collections preparation and installation, and registration), Curatorial (including exhibition conception and implementation, project management, publication preparation, research and writing, artists’ initiatives, and other projects), Communications (including public relations and marketing, digital programs, social media), Data Strategy (encompassing audience research and evaluation, as well as other metrics), Development (including grant writing and donor cultivation), Education (including programming, tours, and community outreach), Exhibitions (including exhibition design and interpretation), Library (including archives). At the Momentary, students might use an internship to explore project management and artist residency coordination, working with artists in residence and developing public events, for example. The curatorial team at the Momentary includes a Curator of Performing Arts, and internships in this area would give students the chance to think about performance within the museum and beyond.

Other key sites for professional development include the Art Bridges Foundation, which brings American art to rural and regional venues by supporting touring exhibitions and lending works of art from its own collection to smaller museums around the country. A student pursuing a curatorial internship at Art Bridges would have the opportunity to design and package a traveling exhibition, tailoring the show for different regional museums. An internship at the University of Arkansas Press would introduce students to academic publishing and the various steps involved in shepherding a manuscript through the review process, securing reader reports and image permissions, and designing a book or exhibition catalogue for a specific market. The Press handles all the Crystal Bridges exhibition catalogues, and we are developing cross-institutional publishing projects to which our students may contribute. Students may also choose to work with local community arts organizations in Bentonville, Fayetteville, and neighboring towns. The Creative Arkansas Community Hub & Exchange (CACHE) is just one indication of the rapid growth of a creative arts ecosystem in Arkansas, especially in the Northwestern part of the state, to which students can contribute. Working with the CACHE team, students will learn about cultural planning to think about community engagement, and explore arts administration, cultural policy, public arts curation, and entrepreneurship. On campus, students can study methods of preservation at Special Collections in Mullins Library, collaborate across disciplines at McMillon Innovation Studio, or take the first steps toward developing a start-up business by working with the university’s Office of Entrepreneurship and Innovation and area professionals affiliated with the Walton College of Business. And the many arts-led integration programs in the region, some spearheaded by our colleagues in Art Education, offer students the chance to bring art into sectors where it has historically been marginalized, thus blending arts education and community work. By insistently demonstrating the value of diverse perspectives in our courses and auxiliary activities, we hope to encourage critical self-reflection, tolerance, and personal growth among our students as they think critically and creatively about art’s capacity to offer new perspectives and envision new futures.
5. NEED FOR THE PROGRAM:

The Workforce Analysis Request Form can be found in Appendix A. This contains specific data regarding job prospects in the field.

Our funding will include full tuition waivers and stipends that provide for living costs for our students. Funding is a combination of graduate assistantships and fellowships supported by the Art History Graduate Student Endowment.

Describe what need the proposed program will address and how the institution became aware of this need.

Demand for specialists in arts of the Americas is growing as colleges, universities, museums, non-profits, and other arts-related organizations seek to add specialists in American art, broadly conceived—especially scholars focused on African American art, Latin American art, Latinx art and Native American art. These fields have been historically underrepresented in museums, galleries, and academia. Museums such as the Museum of Fine Arts in Houston, are creating their first dedicated and permanent collection galleries devoted to Latin American and Latinx art, two of the “fastest-growing aspects” of that museum. (See Maximiliano Durón, “Curators Rita Gonzalez and Mari Carmen Ramirez Talk Supporting Latin American and Latinx Art,” ARTnews, February 23, 2021: https://www.artnews.com/art-news/news/rita-gonzalez-mari-carmen-ramirez-curators-conversation-1234584404/) Other museums with strengths in Native American art, such as The Montclair Art Museum, are devoting significant resources to developing expertise around these collections, hiring specialists and establishing advisory committees. Cluster hires of BIPOC (Black, Indigenous and People of Color) scholars, and specialists in all the underrepresented fields listed above, are beginning to transform the museum world, academia, galleries, and other art spaces as institutions begin to reinforce diversity, equity, and inclusion rhetoric with measurable action. Our program’s focus on the arts of the Americas addresses this demand and will, we hope, lead the way towards a more equitable and multivocal art history.

Our program addresses the demand for new stories and voices that diversify art history. It seeks to answer the call to provide increased access to the field for underrepresented scholars and to educate young scholars in arts of the Americas.

It is worth noting the immense success of a recently created undergraduate program that is already answering the call: the Atlanta University Center for the Study of Art History + Curatorial Studies, a partnership between the historically Black colleges and universities, Spelman College, Morehouse College, and Clark Atlanta University. The AUC website describes this pathbreaking program as “an initiative that, over the course of the next decade and beyond, will position the Atlanta University Center as the leading incubator of African-American museum and art world professionals in the United States and abroad.” In January 2021, we welcomed 5 students from this program to take an intersession course with University of Arkansas students on “American Craft, Material Culture, and the Contemporary,” which coincided with the Crystal Bridges exhibition, Crafting America: Artists and Objects, 1940s to Today. We hope that our MA program will be a destination for AUC Collective graduates seeking an MA degree in art history and we are currently exploring how we might connect with other Historically Black College and Universities and Tribal Colleges and Universities.
It is worth noting, as well, that there is no art history MA program in the state of Arkansas. We feel it is important to provide an opportunity for the citizens of Arkansas to obtain the MA degree in art history in our state, and to take advantage of the opportunity to do so in a fully funded program that partners with Crystal Bridges and takes advantage of the world-class resources of that museum. Indeed, we have recently learned that there are several members of Crystal Bridges and Art Bridges staff with BA degrees who are interested in pursuing an MA degree in art history. The 2017 College Art Association (2017) directory of Graduate Programs in art history does not list any graduate programs in the history of art in Arkansas (UALR has an MA in Art with a concentration in art history, not listed in this directory).

There are art history MA programs in the region, however, including strong programs at the University of Oklahoma, the University of Texas at Austin, Washington University in St. Louis, Southern Methodist University, and the University of Texas at Dallas. Our program will be the only MA program in the Southeastern U.S. with a focus on arts of the Americas. In the Southwestern U.S, the University of New Mexico (UNM) in Albuquerque offers an MA degree with two separate tracks: 1) Art History and 2) Art of the Americas. Our program is distinct in its emphasis on key “Themes” that we consider essential to an understanding of arts of the Americas in a global context. (See 7. Curriculum.) Unlike the UNM program, we do not bracket off the Americas as a concentration separate from a more general Art History track, nor do we have specific geographic or chronological distribution requirements. Our partnership with the museum also makes our program distinct.

With the newly created School of Art, supported by the Walton Family Charitable Support Foundation, the University of Arkansas is uniquely positioned to redefine 21st-century graduate education in the history of art. Through our collaboration with Crystal Bridges and other stakeholders, we are developing an MA program that prepares students for careers in teaching, museums, and numerous roles in the public humanities.

Year 1: 5

Indicate the projected number of program graduates in 3-5 years.

This is a two-year MA program, and we expect all students to graduate after two years. We will provide two years of full funding to each student. We should have 5 students graduating with an MA in Year 2 and thereafter.

Several of the top graduate programs in art history admit between 3 and 6 students per year, such as the University of Southern California and Stanford University. Many art history MA programs accept more, but these students are typically not provided with funding packages that cover all program costs. Examples include the MA programs at the School of the Art Institute of Chicago (in Modern and Contemporary Art History, and Visual and Critical Studies) and Tufts University’s MA programs (in Art History, and Art History and Museum Studies).

6. CURRICULUM

During this two-year MA program, students will take a total of 36 credit hours. This includes 5 required core courses (15 credit hours):

- ARHS 6003. Art History’s Histories: Critical Historiography and Methodology (3 hours)
- ARHS 604V. Art History Practicum (3 hours)
- ARHS 6013. This is IT. (Immersive Travel) (3 hours)
- ARHS 6023. Graduate Art History Writing Workshop (3 hours)
- ARHS 6033. Art History Qualifying Paper (3 hours)

For the remaining 7 courses (21 credit hours):
- 15 credits (5 courses) must be at the 6000-level and be informed by one or more of the following themes, which we consider fundamental to an understanding of arts of the Americas in a global context. These themes reflect the program's central concern with promoting critical thinking about art-world and social structures, transnational and transcultural networks of relation, and diverse perspectives on knowledge production and modes of creativity. Courses touching on these themes will be regularly offered by multiple faculty members, with new courses introduced gradually, three to four new theme-related seminars per year. Students may petition to have a course outside of art history count toward the 15-credit hour theme requirement. Although most courses will touch on multiple themes, each course may count for no more than two themes.

Some departments, such as African and African American Studies, offer a graduate certificate, which art history MA students may pursue (and 9 of their 15 total hours of required coursework for the certificate may be in art history). By taking two courses in this department, MA students can earn a graduate certificate in African and African American Studies.

112 minimum Practicum/Internship hours required. Students are guaranteed 8-10 hours per week at Crystal Bridges/the Momentary during the second semester of their first year, which fulfills this requirement.

Total number of faculty required for program implementation, including the number of existing faculty and number of new faculty. For new faculty, provide the expected credentials/experience and expected hire date.
The new faculty—to include two endowed faculty and three non-endowed—will all be expected to hold the PhD and to have experience in university teaching.

The program can be implemented with current 6 full-time faculty members, the 2 faculty members who participate 25% in the School of Art, and the additional faculty teaching in the program from the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art and the Momentary, and the Art Bridges Foundation: 8 total. Of these museum staff, 6 have PhDs and are thus able to teach courses independently in the graduate program. The remaining staff may co-teach courses with University of Arkansas faculty.

We have been approved to hire 5 additional faculty members in the Art History program over the next few years. Of these, 3 should be onboarded by the time of the proposed MA program launch date of Fall 2023. By 2025, we expect to have 11 total full-time faculty in the Art History program.

As a point of comparison, the University of New Mexico Art Department offers the Master of Arts in Art History with two concentration options (Art History and Art of the Americas) with 8 full-time faculty members in Art History. Of these, 5 research and teach topics pertaining to arts of the Americas. We currently have 5 full-time faculty who research and teach topics pertaining to arts of the Americas, in addition to 7 curatorial staff focused on American and Contemporary art who will teach in the MA program, and 1 in foundation leadership with significant training in American art.

HIRING PLAN
The Art History faculty at the University of Arkansas have developed a hiring plan to add 5 new tenure-track faculty members between 2022 and 2025. For our first two searches (endowed, at the associate or assistant professor rank), we will seek scholars with a PhD degree in Art History or allied field who will play a central and critical role in developing the arts of the Americas concentration of our MA program. We will also seek scholars who will help us to fulfill our diversity, equity, and inclusion efforts. We will prioritize scholars of 1) Indigenous art of the Americas; and 2) Latin American and Latinx modern and contemporary art. We will search for scholars working from transcultural perspectives. Once these two hires have been onboarded, we will together develop a plan for the remaining three hires. (Our current priorities are a) African American and Black Diasporic art and b) Asian art.) The Collaborative Teaching Initiative we have developed, which invites one “visionary” per year to co-teach with faculty in the arts of the Americas graduate program, is in part designed to allow us to bring a diversity of perspectives into the MA program curriculum as we grow to our full number of faculty.

The expected schedule for hires:
Fall 2022: 2 hires
Fall 2023: 1 hire
Fall 2024: 1 hire
Fall 2025: 1 hire

Our cross-institutional expertise in North American art is unparalleled and will only continue to grow in the coming years. Crystal Bridges recently hired a Curator of Native American Art, who will build on the museum’s collaborations with Indigenous communities, acquisitions by Native American artists, and exhibitions such as Art for a New Understanding: Native Voices 1950s to Now, helping to sustain relationships with tribal leaders and Indigenous communities regionally and nationally. The museum is also currently conducting a search for a Curator of Craft, with support from a $17.5 million gift from the Wingate Foundation to advance the field of craft and bring craft objects into the museum’s permanent collection. These two hires are helping to guide the museum’s collecting practices toward materials and modes of expression that have historically been more inclusive and accessible than fine arts. Finally, the museum will also be hiring in 2021 a Director of Artist Initiatives at the Momentary and a Curator of Contemporary art at Crystal Bridges.

The funding package that all students receive is provided by graduate assistantships and fellowships. Graduate assistants will serve as teaching and/or research assistants and work on activities that “further the professional goals of the student.”

7. DESCRIPTION OF RESOURCES

The Fine Arts Library (FAL) is one of three branches (Chemistry, Fine Arts, and Physics) of the University of Arkansas Libraries and is located immediately southwest of the main library, Mullins. The campus has a separate law library. FAL serves the School of Art (Art Education, Art History, Graphic Design, and Studio) in the Fulbright College and the three departments (Architecture, Interior Design, and Landscape Architecture) of the Fay Jones School of Architecture + Design, a separate college. Mullins Library serves the performing arts and the College of Education and Health Professions.
The Fine Arts Library currently includes 31,400 volumes in a space of approximately 4,000 square feet. Most current core purchases in art history are acquired for FAL. However, because of space limitations, older and lesser used volumes are in Mullins Library and the University Libraries' storage building, LINX. Mullins Library holds 38,175, making a total of 69,575 art history related volumes in the library holdings. Because the interdisciplinary work of the Art History faculty overlaps greatly with traditional and emerging disciplines in the humanities and social sciences, Mullins and LINX house many useful resources.

FAL has a $2 million endowment budget, which produces earnings of $280,000 per year. This will allow for increased support for acquisitions to the library's holdings in art history. Currently about $20,000 per year is being spent to increase holdings specifically in art history, but expenditures of $12,000 for purchases in the area of Studio art and $10,000 for Graphic Design are also of use to art history students. In 2021, each Art History faculty member was granted $5,000 from the Art History Program's endowment to add monographs, exhibition catalogues, and rare materials to the library to support their research and teaching areas. The Graduate Director is using these funds to support graduate research in arts of the Americas. The new hires to come will be granted these funds to build up the library collection to support their research and teaching.

Monographs and other one-time purchases, regardless of format, are paid separately from serials and databases. The following amounts were available in the current fiscal year (July 2019–June 2020), the previous fiscal year, and the penultimate one in the funds relevant to art education and under the aegis of the head of FAL. Applicable expenditure is shown in parentheses for the two historical fiscal years.

Funds in bold represent targeted allocations for income on the Walton endowment, which became available in FY 2019. The head of FAL set the amount for each “area” paid out of the endowment. He established the “reserve” fund in the current fiscal year to increase the number of exhibition catalogs in the collection. The “general” fund pays for books that do not fall neatly in a curricular category (e.g., art education). The dean of the Fulbright College provided a supplement to FAL in most recent years (not FY 2018) to support the School of Art.

The only amount that is exclusive to Art History is “Walton Art History.” However, on other funds the head of FAL regularly orders resources that are relevant to the faculty and future graduate students. The head of FAL also coordinates selection of titles in the humanities and can compete with his fellow selectors in the humanities for $10,000 annually in public money for resources in the humanities and approximately $25,000 annually in income on non-Walton endowments designated for the humanities. Art History has benefited from these resources. In addition, library colleagues who work in the humanities and social sciences buy many titles on critical theory, diversity, gender, race, sexuality—areas that are fundamental to research in Art History. University Libraries also employs a librarian in residence, who has an allocation of $3,600 to buy books focused on diversity.

These figures above are not restricted to physical texts. The head of FAL now buys more electronic art books, especially in art education, and frequently chooses the electronic medium when the electronic text with a multi-user license is only marginally more expensive than a hard copy and the text is more likely to be 1) consulted briefly or 2) read by multiple users in a short period. Unlike the monographic budgets, firm budgets for periodicals do not exist per se; rather, estimates for expenditure are made at the beginning of each fiscal year based on cost in the previous year and notices from publishers and vendors regarding price increases.

Students also have access to the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art Library, and to the Interlibrary Loan services of Mullins Library. University Libraries, Law Library, and the Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art Library share an integrated online system (Sierra). We subscribe to about 60 art serials and major databases that cover art history, including Ebsco’s Art & Architecture Source and Art Index Retrospective, which index periodical literature in art and related disciplines back to 1929. Other pertinent subscriptions include the interdisciplinary and heavily full-text Ebsco Academic Search Complete and ProQuest Central; the database for cited reference searching, Web of Science; JSTOR Arts and Sciences I, II, III, IV, V, VI, VII, VIII, XI,

New instructional resources required, including costs and acquisition plan.
As the Art History program expands, it will require additional classroom spaces, faculty office space, and graduate student study spaces. To accommodate the growth of the Art History and Art Education programs, a plan to renovate and restore the Fine Arts Center is underway, under the direction of the architectural firm of Deborah Berke Partners of New York City. Completion of the project is scheduled for Spring 2024. The budget for the renovation of the Fine Arts Center (which includes sections beyond the School of Art, such as the Concert Hall, Library, and Theatre) is $26,476,000, of which $10 million has been donated by the Walton Family Charitable Support Foundation and the rest provided by the University of Arkansas. The Crystal Bridges Museum of American Art is also undergoing an expansion (currently at the design phase). This will provide new gallery spaces, a “viewing room” for study of objects in the collection and expanded library facilities. The expansion is scheduled to open to the public in 2024. Please note that some of these details may change as work proceeds and plans are finalized.

All classrooms will be equipped with state-of-the-art projection, dimmable room lighting, smart technology, streaming facilities, appropriate furniture, video projection, speaker systems, Wi-Fi, outlets for student laptops, etc.

In addition, graduate students and faculty will have access to a viewing room and flexible spaces where classes can meet in the expanded campus at Crystal Bridges (set to open 2024). The new education wing will allow for faculty and students to create short-term installations.

Art History students may also attend classes and events in a 250-seat auditorium in the School of Art’s new Windgate Art and Design Center, planned for completion in fall 2024.

Master of Healthcare Business Analytics

NEW DEGREE PROGRAM

1. PROPOSED PROGRAM TITLE:

Master of Healthcare Business Analytics

2. PROPOSED STARTING DATE:

Fall 2022

3. CONTACTS:

Dr. Ketevan Mamiseishvili, Interim Vice Provost for Academic Affairs, kmamisei@uark.edu
Professor Paul Cronan, Information Systems, cronan@uark.edu

4. PROGRAM SUMMARY:

The thirty (30) hour Master of Healthcare Business Analytics (M.H.B.A.) degree program (intra-college program between the Sam M. Walton College of Business and the College of Education and Health Professionals) is a unique professional degree/credentials focused on business analytics applications in healthcare and healthcare analytics applications.

The Master of Healthcare Business Analytics (M.H.B.A.) degree is a professional thirty (30) hour degree focusing on business analytics applications in healthcare and healthcare analytics applications. The degree will address barriers and facilitators to adoption of new procedures in the healthcare environment, as well as how analytics can achieve modern healthcare system goals: high-quality, responsive, affordable, and efficient care. Healthcare systems capture enormous amounts of information (such as electronic health records, billing information, patient wait times, supply records) as well as more novel forms of data (such as chronic disease monitoring, radio-frequency identification tracking, etc.). Managerial issues such as how to get electronic data users to employ it consistently for improving healthcare delivery, managing the reporting and sharing of data, and leveraging data and resources to improve health at a manageable cost. This degree program is designed to provide professional preparation for positions in healthcare business, government, and public service. Sufficient flexibility is provided to meet the needs of students with various backgrounds and foster lifelong learning and innovation.

List degree programs or emphasis areas currently offered at the institution that support the proposed program:
Master of Applied Business Analytics
Enterprise Systems Graduate Certificate
Statistics and Analytics, Master of Science
Master of Information Systems
Educational Statistics and Research Methods, Doctor of Philosophy

5. NEED FOR THE PROGRAM:

Submit Workforce Analysis Form or Employer Needs Survey
See Appendix A
Recently, for several new Walton College Master’s degree programs (Master of Applied Business Analytics, Master of Economic Analytics, and others), an employer needs survey form was sent to several individuals working in prominent positions in the corporate sector. The individuals who responded come from firms such as Wal-Mart, Tyson Foods, J. B. Hunt, Blue Cross, Visa, Amazon, IRI, and Toyota, among others.

Indicate if employer tuition assistance is provided or if there are other enrollment incentives. Some companies have employer tuition assistance programs dependent upon employee time with the company.

Describe what need the proposed program will address and how the institution became aware of this need. The digital revolution ignited an explosion of data in many areas; this is the case in healthcare – patient data, hospital data, provider data and other. The availability of data is no longer a constraint to answering important questions. The critical constraint is now the ability to analyze, digest, visualize, and ultimately harness the data to drive decision making in business, science, and society. The Master of Healthcare Business Analytics program will guide students through application modeling to practice using cutting-edge tools and providing a thorough training in descriptive, predictive, and prescriptive healthcare business analytics. Students will be armed with a solid knowledge of healthcare business analytics as well as methods and tools available. These “big-data” skills, combined with knowledge of healthcare and business application modeling, will enable students to identify, assess, and seize the opportunity for data-driven value creation in the private and public sector.

Indicate which employers contacted the institution about offering the proposed program. Alumni from the current Master of Information Systems, Master of Applied Business Analytics and Business Analytics Graduate Certificate in Enterprise Systems who currently work in data analytics in the corporate sector have communicated the need for the skills and training this program will provide. In addition, we have had meetings with executives from several firms, such as Dillard’s, J. B. Hunt, Arkansas Blue Cross Blue Shield, Wal-Mart, Tyson Foods, etc. who have an urgent need for employees with this training.

Indicate the projected number of program enrollments for Years 1 - 3. Year 1 - 15 students Year 2 – 20 – 25 students Year 3 – 25 – 30 students Indicate the projected number of program graduates in 3-5 years. Program graduates – since this is a 5-semester program, in 3 – 5 years we expect to graduate approximately 40 – 50 students

3. PROGRAM GOALS AND OBJECTIVES:

The Graduate Certificate in Healthcare Business Analytics is a part-time/full-time program offered on campus, blended, and online. It is designed to provide graduate students with knowledge and experience in healthcare business analytics used in modern healthcare environments. The demand for skilled professionals in analytics healthcare continues to outpace the supply of qualified applicants.

The Graduate Certificate in Healthcare Business Analytics program is a professional twelve (12) hour Certificate focusing on business analytics applications in healthcare and healthcare analytics applications. The certificate will address barriers and facilitators to adoption of new procedures in the healthcare environment, as well as how analytics can achieve modern healthcare system goals: high-quality, responsive, affordable, and efficient care. Healthcare systems capture enormous amounts of information (such as electronic health records, billing information, patient wait times, supply records) as well as more novel forms of data (such as chronic disease monitoring, radio-frequency identification tracking, etc.).

Managerial issues such as how to get electronic data users to employ it consistently for improving healthcare delivery, managing the reporting and sharing of data, and leveraging data and resources to improve health at a manageable cost. This program is designed to provide professional preparation for positions in healthcare business, government, and public service. Sufficient flexibility is provided to meet the needs of students with various backgrounds and foster lifelong learning and innovation.

The graduate certificate program is intended to be completed part-time (ordinarily no more than six hours per semester) and is open to individuals with backgrounds in any discipline. Up to twelve (12) hours of the Graduate Certificate course credit with a grade of “B” or better can be used in the Master of Healthcare Business Analytics and Master of Applied Business Analytics programs as applicable to the respective degree.

4. DOCUMENTATION THAT PROGRAM MEETS EMPLOYER NEEDS:

In conjunction with the Master of Healthcare Business Analytics, we plan to initially utilize the Information Systems Enterprise Advisory Board (as well as members of the College Deans’ Advisory Boards) to provide ongoing feedback and suggestions on the content of the program and student placement. Then, a Healthcare Business Analytics Advisory Board will be constituted. The advisory committee will meet bi-annually.

Recently, for several new Walton College Master’s degree programs (Master of Applied Business Analytics, Master of Economic Analytics, and others), an employer needs survey form was sent to several individuals working in prominent positions in the corporate sector. The individuals who responded on previous surveys come from firms such as Wal-Mart, Tyson Foods, J. B. Hunt, Blue Cross, Visa, Amazon, IRI, and Toyota, among others. Some companies have employer tuition assistance programs dependent upon employee time with the company.

Information on the Director position and the organizational structure.

Dr. Philip M. Massey, associate professor of Public Health and Arkansas Research Alliance (ARA) scholar will serve as the Director. Dr. Massey received his Bachelor of Science degree in biology in 2006 from the University of North Carolina at Chapel Hill. He earned his Master of Public Health and Ph.D. degrees from the University of California, Los Angeles in 2009 and 2013, respectively. In 2013, he joined Drexel University’s School of Public Health as assistant professor and was promoted to associate professor with tenure in 2019. His scholarship centers on health communication, media and technology in the U.S. and globally, on topics ranging from social media, cancer prevention, substance use, health literacy, and entertainment education. Over his career, he has published 32 articles and secured over $3 million as Principal Investigator in external funding from a variety of funding agencies, including the National Cancer Institute and the Bill & Melinda Gates Foundation.

Regan Murray is the proposed Assistant Director of the Center. The Assistant Director will provide support to the Director and will contribute an important role in the development of the new Center. Broadly, the Assistant Director will oversee Center operations, manage strategic activities, and create new partnerships and collaborations. The Assistant Director will be responsible for: development of center activities; managing the implementation of projects; supervising data collection and data management activities across projects; managing project team members and priorities; maintaining contact with stakeholders, partners and sub-award recipients; and facilitating grant and evaluation-related reporting to funders.

Two post-doctoral fellows will be hired to work under the supervision of Dr. Philip Massey. The opportunity for mentored career development and research time will allow the post-docs to grow as scientists and prepare themselves for the job market. One of the fellows, Dr. Matthew Kearny, has already been identified to work on a project funded by the National Cancer Institute on social media and health research.

Two additional staff members will also be hired to provide administrative and research support to the Center activities.
Identification of faculty (or qualifications of type of faculty), other personnel, and academic units that will be involved with the Center.

In addition to the Director, Center staff, and post-docs described above, two public health faculty members will also be involved in the Center, identified as “Affiliate Faculty” in the organizational structure above. Additional faculty members will be added as the Center activities expand in the future.

- Dr. Page Dobbs, assistant professor of Public Health, joined the University of Arkansas faculty in Fall 2020 from the University of Oklahoma. She earned a MS and a PhD in Community Health Promotion from the University of Arkansas’ College of Education and Health Professions. Dr. Dobbs' research focuses on social factors that influence perceptions and behaviors among vulnerable populations. She has published quantitative, qualitative, and mixed-methods research that examined the use of cigarettes and electronic cigarettes (e-cigarettes) among youth, young adults, minority populations, and pregnant women.

- Dr. Alex Russell joined the University of Arkansas in Fall 2020 as an Assistant Professor in Public Health. He earned his Ph.D. in Health Education from Texas A&M University. His research broadly focuses on alcohol use and misuse among adolescent and young adult populations. Specifically, his previous work has examined the following areas: (1) peer influences on college students’ alcohol use, (2) alcohol marketing to youth via online and social media, and (3) the protective effects of youth religiosity/spirituality on early onset of alcohol use. Currently, his research leverages social media data (e.g., Twitter, TikTok) to explore alcohol-related portrayals on social media.
Student involvement, if any.

The Center will provide research and training opportunities to students, both at the undergraduate and graduate levels. Each faculty member involved in the Center will mentor students and supervise their honors thesis, research internships, and/or doctoral dissertations. The Center will provide opportunities to students to join faculty-led research and present their work at conferences.

STUDENT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE:
   Ted Dickey, Chair
   Tommy Boyer
   Morril Harriman
   Sheffield Nelson
   Jeremy Wilson

Dear Committee Members:

Dr. Charles Robinson, Interim Chancellor of the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, requests approval to add a new educator preparation program of the Bachelor of Arts in Teaching in Drama Education in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction within the College of Education and Health Professions, effective Fall 2022. A summary of the proposal is attached.

This Bachelor of Arts in Teaching in Drama Education degree will prepare students in the humanities with the pedagogical skills, the content knowledge, and the dispositions for teaching and learning in 21st century classrooms in the areas of Drama. The four-year program will include 31 hours of pedagogy, 45 hours in the individual content area, and 35 hours of the University required Core with 9 hours in electives. In addition, students will have several field experiences over the course of 8 semesters in partner schools, including observations, practica, student teaching, and internship. Because of the significant overlap in the curriculum, the programs included in the Bachelor of Arts in Teaching degree will be considered cognate programs.

I concur with this recommendation, and a resolution is attached for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Donald R. Bobbitt, President
Charles E. Scharlau Presidential Leadership Chair

3. Needs Summary

a. Provide a brief statement of the program’s purpose, mission, and/or goals.

This Bachelor of Arts in Teaching degree will prepare students in the humanities with the pedagogical skills, the content knowledge, and the dispositions for teaching and learning in 21st century classrooms in the areas of Drama. The four-year program will include 31 hours of pedagogy, 45 hours in the individual content area, and 35 hours of the University required Core with 9 hours in electives. In addition, students will have several field experiences over the course of 8 semesters in partner schools, including observations, practica, student teaching, and internship. Because of the significant overlap in the curriculum, the programs included in the Bachelor of Arts in Teaching degree will be considered cognate programs.

b. Explain the need for the program with supporting documentation, such as data from supply and demand studies, institutional surveys, feedback from school districts, or requests from individuals.

According to a recent survey conducted at the University of Arkansas by Dr. Jason Endacott, approximately 11% (411) of undergraduate students who responded to an exploratory survey (n = 3728) plan on becoming a secondary educator. However, only 10% (41) of those 411 students indicated that they planned to pursue secondary certification through the MAT program at the University of Arkansas. The remaining 90% indicated that they intended to pursue other options, such as Teach For America, alternative licensure, and undergraduate programs at other universities.

In the last six years, enrollment in the Master of Arts in Teaching program, a traditional route to licensure at the graduate level, has dropped by 50%.

This reflects a national trend in teacher preparation. In addition to decreased interest in becoming a teacher, other private and for-profit organizations offer alternative routes to licensure. Our campus now recruits for Teach for America and Arkansas Teacher Corps. The fifth-year model is also becoming outmoded. The cost for a graduate program is prohibitive for many students, and they are not willing to extend their debt for another year. Students are opting for degrees that offer a career path in four years. Faculty and administration in the College of Education and Health Professions believe that a four-year humanities program in pedagogy, content, and field experiences will lead more students into choosing teaching as a career and fill the shortages we have across the state with professionally prepared teachers.

Our school partners in Northwest Arkansas through our partnership meetings have expressed the need for a four-year program due to increased enrollments in their districts.

c. Provide estimates of the number of candidates expected to enter and complete the proposed program each year for a five-year period

The first BAT program graduated six students in Spring 2021, and currently 30 students are enrolled for graduation in Spring 2022. In May 2020, the number of Pre-BAT students totaled 100, and one-fifth of those 100 (20) are entering the program as juniors Fall 2021. Within the theatre department, there are five potential in-coming freshman who have stated they wish to pursue the BAT in Drama, and the theatre department will actively recruit for this program of study once the BAT in Drama is approved.

4. Institutional Approval

a. Briefly describe the institution’s educator preparation program approval process

The proposal for a new degree include the following steps:

- Proposal is approved at departmental level by the UTEB committee
- Proposal is approved at the college level by the CCPC committee
- Proposal is approved at the university level by the UCPC committee
- Proposal is approved by the Faculty Senate
- Proposal is approved by the Provost

b. Provide official documentation, including signatures, showing approval was granted by all appropriate authorizing entities outlined above. If approval has not been granted, indicate when approval is expected.

Letter Pending

5. Program Description

a. Provide a general description of the program.

The Bachelor of Arts in Teaching Drama Education is a new degree program in education leading to licensure in the respective content areas (7-12). The University of Arkansas offers five other cognate licensure programs in the Bachelor of Arts in Teaching: English, French, German, Spanish, and Social Studies. Students will complete 40 hours of pedagogy including 8 credit hours of field experiences (practicum and internship), 45 hours in the content area, 35 hours of UA Core, to complete 120 credit hours.

The program focuses on developing reflective practitioners based on the constructivist perspective that teachers are life-long learners, reflective practitioners, and scholar researchers. The coursework is designed to develop these attributes so that students graduate as effective teachers with the knowledge, skills, and dispositions to engage students with meaningful and authentic instruction.

The BAT program is housed in the Department of Curriculum and Instruction (CIED) in the College of Education and Health Professions. Courses in CIED focus on developing the skills and dispositions for teaching. CIED partners with the Fulbright College of Arts and Sciences to develop knowledge in students’ content areas.

b. Provide a plan of study for the program. If the program is embedded in a baccalaureate degree, include an eight-semester degree plan. Include the number of hours required to complete the program.

Item 4: Academic Unanimous Consent Agenda
(Action)
March 4, 2022

TO: MEMBERS OF THE ACADEMIC AND STUDENT AFFAIRS COMMITTEE:
Ted Dickey, Chair
Tommy Boyer
Morril Harriman
Sheffield Nelson
Jeremy Wilson

Dear Committee Members:

Items placed on the Academic Unanimous Consent Agenda are matters which traditionally receive the unanimous support of the Board; however, any item may be singled out for discussion. I am requesting that you consider the following items on the Unanimous Consent Agenda for the March 16-17, 2022, Academic and Student Affairs Committee meeting.

1. University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences
   A. Program Deletion
      • Delete the Ophthalmic Medical Technology Program in the College of Health Professions. (The final student enrolled in the program graduated in December 2021, and there are no remaining students enrolled. NOTE: No faculty or staff positions will be affected by this program deletion.)
   B. Title or CIP Change
      • Change the name of the Department of Environmental and Occupational Health to the Department of Environmental Health Sciences. (This name change follows a national shift among universities that house similar programs under the same department name, and will also reflect the advancement of the department in providing more inclusive direction for students.)
   C. Program Curriculum Revision or Existing Program Offered Online
      • Curriculum Change within the Master of Public Health (MPH) Track
        Based on the pending approval for changing the department name in the college to Environmental Health Sciences, the curriculum also needs altering to align more closely with other universities with similar programs. The changes include new courses (2) that are vital to the success of the MPH track. The total credit hours toward the degree remain the same (42 credit hours).
2. University of Arkansas at Monticello
   A. Memorandum of Understanding Between UAM and National Park Community College (NPC)
      • UAM to enter into two MOUs with National Park College. (1) General agreement to collaborate in offering students the opportunity to complete approved baccalaureate degree programs offered by UAM and delivered on the NPC campus. (2) The second agreement is designed to facilitate the transfer and degree completion of students earning the Associate of Science in Business at NPC to the Bachelor of Business Administration – General Business degree at UAM. Under the second agreement, a majority of the required UAM courses will be delivered on the NPC campus. Therefore, the agreements will require UAM to seek approval for an additional site according to HLC requirements.
   B. New Off-Campus Location and Distance Technology
      • National Park College (NPC), Hot Springs, AR. The Center is being established to facilitate campus partnership agreements. The goal of these agreements is to increase the post-secondary degree attainment in Arkansas by allowing NPC students to complete requirements for UAM bachelor's degrees on the NPC campus.

3. University of Arkansas, Fayetteville

CONSIDERATION OF REQUEST FOR APPROVAL OF A SOLAR SERVICES AGREEMENT WITH ENTEGRITY ENERGY, UAF (ACTION)

AND GROUNDS COMMITTEE:
   Dr. Ed Fryar, Chair
   Mr. Tommy Boyer
   Mr. Steve Cox
   Mr. Ted Dickey
   Mr. Morril Harriman
   Mr. Sheffield Nelson

Dear Committee Members:

Interim Chancellor Charles Robinson at the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, is requesting authorization to enter into a Solar Services Agreement (SSA) with Entegrity Energy Partners (Entegrity) for the purchase of electricity produced by solar photo-voltaic production array. The SSA would be entered into pursuant to the Arkansas Guaranteed Energy Cost Savings Act, and would take advantage of Act 464 (Ark. Code Ann. §§ 23-18-601 et seq.), the Arkansas Solar Access law passed in 2019, and net metering rules of the Arkansas Public Service Commission (APSC) under Docket 16-027-R.

The Arkansas Energy Office (AEO) has been designated by the Arkansas Legislature to implement the Guaranteed Energy Cost Savings Act, Ark. Code Ann. § 19-11-1201-1208, (the “Act”) for state agencies. As such, AEO has established standards for prequalification of energy services firms and maintains a list of those firms that can implement energy savings performance contracts (ESPC) with State agencies. The SSA will also include energy production and cost guarantees pursuant to the Act.

A request to begin an ESPC project under the policies and procedures of AEO was submitted to the President's Office on June 28, 2018, and approved on July 2, 2018. The Capital Project Proposal Form (CPPF - Attachment A) is provided for reference. Note one of the desired outcomes of this ESPC project was for the campus to include a solar photovoltaic project component.

On September 18, 2019, all 14 pre-qualified ESPC firms were invited to submit a Statement of Interest letter to the University for the project. Of those 14, seven firms responded and were judged capable of performing the work for the University and were invited to participate in the selection process.
AEO and the Fayetteville campus ESPC Project Committee conducted interviews and selected Entegrity Energy Partners as the most qualified ESPC firm for this project. The recommendation for consideration of Entegrity Energy partners and authorization for the guaranteed energy savings capital project were submitted to the Board at the March 19, 2020, meeting and was approved. The solar component was not specifically approved at the March 19, 2020, meeting.

As one part of the larger ESPC project, the solar energy component was developed and presented to the University as an SSA. This same parent ESPC project provided for the Division of Agriculture SSA project from Entegrity, which was approved in December 2020. The proposed University SSA has been reviewed by AEO and the Office of General Counsel.

Under the terms of the SSA contract, Entegrity will provide all capital costs, design, permitting, installation, utility interconnection, operations, and maintenance of the solar array and provide energy as a service to the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville. The array would not be located on University property. Over the 25-year term of the agreement, the University would agree to purchase from Entegrity the entire output of the array at the specified rates for the energy generated. Entegrity in turn guarantees a minimum annual energy production from the array for purchase by the University. Based on reasonably projected utility rate increases, the SSA is expected to maintain positive cash flow each year over the life of the agreement. The SSA would provide purchase/buy-out provisions for the solar array at the discretion of the University.

The Agreement would be subject to final legal review and approval by the UA System General Counsel prior to execution, under terms and conditions acceptable to the University.

I concur with Dr. Robinson’s recommendation and have attached a resolution for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Donald R. Bobbitt
President

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS THAT the University of Arkansas, Fayetteville, is authorized to enter into a Solar Services Agreement (SSA) for a maximum term of 25 years with Entegrity Energy partners, subject to the General Counsel’s approval of the SSA’s terms and conditions and its related agreements.
1. Project Function

The Fayetteville Energy Conservation and Facility Improvements (ESPC 4) project is designed to reduce overall campus energy consumption and improve building energy efficiency across all divisions of the University. Upon selection of an Energy Service Company (ESCO) partner from the State approved list, the ESCO will prepare an Investment Grade Audit (IGA). The IGA will detail the project scope, define the total project delivery cost and calculate the guaranteed energy savings. The format and structure of the IGA will be created in cooperation with the Arkansas Energy Office. Both the final capital project and IGA will be in compliance with the statutes set forth by AR Act 554. Though the ultimate project scope will be determined by the outcome of the IGA, the strategic project objectives and expected opportunities for energy reduction are as follows:

a) Reduce campus utility expenditures to create debt service for the capital renewal requirement
b) Improve effectiveness and energy efficiency of the various district utility systems where appropriate
c) Improve comfort and indoor air quality in campus buildings
d) Demonstrate support for the research, technological and economic advancement of solar photovoltaic technology
e) Reduce facility deferred maintenance by leveraging energy savings for capital renewal reinvestment
f) Implement major lighting upgrades campus wide to convert lighting to LED technologies
g) Implement general facility capital renewal improvements in University Housing facilities, to include HVAC improvements, window replacements, and plumbing upgrades in various Residence Halls

2. Facility Location & Description

The project IGA will encompass all Fayetteville campus buildings both on and off the core campus; including Educational and General Purpose (E&G) facilities, University Housing, University Athletics, Transit and Parking, and the Arkansas Research and Technology Park. The final selection of facilities will be determined by the results of the Investment Grade Audit and the respective capital renewal priorities of each campus operating division.

3. Total Project Cost
The total project cost for ESPC 4 is currently estimated not to exceed $20 million. It is the nature of ESPC projects that the final selected scope of work and the total project cost is linked to the avoided utility costs and the acceptable financial rate of return identified through the IGA process. The final capital project package, the funding strategy and the associated financial pro forma will be submitted to the Board of Trustees for final approval.

4. Parking Plan to Support New or Expanded Facility
   Not applicable.

5. Source of Project Funds
   It is expected that the project will be funded through a combination of capital lease funding, revenue bonds, utility incentive payments, and internal division operating and maintenance reserves.

   The types of Energy Conservation Measures (ECMs) resulting from the ESPC 4 project are expected to fall into two general categories of financed payback. The target payback for E&G facilities are expected to be relatively short (8 years financed payback). This suggests some type of capital lease financing for short term funding. Conversely the paybacks for University Housing projects are expected to be longer as they are anticipated to be more capital intensive. This would suggest using bond funding for the longer-term projects. Ultimately the financed payback of the ECMs will be matched up with the most advantageous funding strategy.

   The University is eligible to receive energy conservation rebates and incentives from local natural gas and electric utilities. The project utility incentive payments are estimated to be $400,000. In addition to the utility company rebates, there are internal energy efficiency funds that are available to the project. It is expected these internal rebates would contribute $600,000 toward the funding requirement. The rebates will depend upon the actual energy demand reductions based on the energy conservation measures selected for implementation.

   Finally, the campus will utilize cash reserve up to $1.5 million for deferred maintenance and capital renewal that are related to the energy project.

The balance of the funding will come from a combination of short and long-term debt as noted above. The following summarizes the funding strategy.

Solar Services Agreement for Electricity Supply

The University of Arkansas, Fayetteville (UAF) requests authorization to enter into a Solar Services Agreement (SSA) with Entegrity Energy Partners (Entegrity) for the purchase of electricity produced by solar photo-voltaic production array. The SSA shall be drafted in accordance with Act 464 (Ark. Code Ann. §§ 23-18-601 et seq.), the Arkansas Solar Access law passed in 2019, and under the rules and regulations promulgated by Order 28 from the Arkansas Public Service Commission (APSC) under Docket16-027-R, the major implementation of the Net Metering Rules.

Under the terms of the SSA, Entegrity will provide all capital costs, design, permitting, installation, utility interconnection, operations, and maintenance of the solar array and provide energy as a service to UAF.

Over the 25-year term of the agreement, UAF would agree to purchase from Entegrity the entire output of the array at the specified rates for the energy generated. Entegrity in turn guarantees a minimum annual energy production from the array for purchase by UAF. Based on reasonably projected utility rate increases, the SSA is expected to maintain positive cash flow each year over the life of the agreement. The SSA would provide purchase/buy-out provisions for the solar array at the discretion of the UAF.

SSA Term and Conditions

- Projected Year 1 energy savings: $216,135 ($150,158 without the Winter ’21 fuel recovery rider)

  The SSA guarantees a minimum scheduled annual kWh production of electricity and a specified cost per kWh over the term of the agreement.

- Projected discounted cash flow over the term @ 10% IRR: $1.49 M

- Average discounted cost of energy over the 25-year term: $0.02574 per kWh.

- SSA term: Not to exceed 25 years

  The SSA will provide options for early buy-out of the agreement for the solar PV production facility, should UAF choose to exercise that option at UAF’s sole discretion, beginning the eighth year of the agreement.

- Under the SSA, all environmental benefits of the solar PV facility are retained by UAF

February 11, 2022
The Agreement would be subject to final legal review and approval by the UA System General Counsel prior to execution, and under terms and conditions acceptable to the University.

As this contract is an SSA, the final configuration of the solar project is the responsibility of Entegrity. However, the proposal requires a site located in SWEPCO’s service territory of approximately 25 acres. The proposed array would produce a nominal 4MW (AC), with a Year 1 guaranteed minimum production of 8,688,880 kWh. This represents approximately 6.3% of the University’s electrical energy requirement.

Potential for Future Grid Charge or Change in Rates

As the proposed project is of a nominal 4 MW capacity (AC), under the most recent APSC rules issued June 2020, the project could be subject to a “grid access charge”. However, Entegrity holds that because the project was documented as being proposed before the most recent Net Metering rules went into effect, that the project is not subject to the new rules – and therefore will not be subject to future grid charges or a change in the offset rate.

Entegrity has successfully made this argument to the APSC for other projects of similar composition and expects it can for the University project as well. However, if Entegrity is not successful with the Commission, the University retains the right to exit the agreement under the stated terms and conditions.

Dear Committee Members:

Chancellor Christina Drale, University of Arkansas at Little Rock, is requesting approval to raze the Earth Science Building located on the UA Little Rock campus.

The building is a 10,666 square foot steel framed and beam structure built in 1958. The former laboratory and classroom building is no longer occupied and is in a state of deterioration. Chancellor Drale has indicated it is not financially feasible to renovate this building. The last Facilities Audit Program report prepared in 2018 reflects that the critical maintenance and general maintenance needs for the building exceed $3.35 million dollars. The total cost of renovation would be well in excess of this amount, particularly given the increase in construction costs since 2018. Following demolition, the building footprint will be part of a reimagined entrance to the Western side of the UA Little Rock campus that will include unique landscape design features and ample green space. Demolition costs are estimated at $235,871.

I concur with Dr. Drale’s recommendation and have attached a resolution for your consideration.

1. Proposed function of project. If the proposed project is new construction, describe this project’s role in the campus master building plan.

This project will be truly transformational for the UA Little Rock campus. It will significantly enhance the plaza outside of the library and student centers to provide a gathering space for students with a seat wall, tables & chairs, a stage, and canopy trees for shade – all on a new surface of porcelain pavers that will provide a stunning complement to the brick buildings in that area. In addition, the promenade – Trojan Way – that will run north-to-south will be a huge upgrade to the hodge-podge of walkways that exist currently, and will serve as the central spine of our campus for decades to come. The Trojan Way project also includes intermediate nodes along the promenade to highlight intersections and terminuses that will be highlights of the walkway. In the end, this will be one of the most impactful landscaping projects ever undertaken at UA Little Rock and will benefit our living-learning community substantially for many years to come. We will certainly plan to complement these projects with future plans in the update to our campus master plan that we will begin in 2022.

2. Proposed facility location & description (attach map).

The project location is in the area outside of the Ottenheimer Library (plaza) and the main walkway of campus (promenade), which runs north-to-south from 28th Street to University Drive (see project details attached).

3. Total estimated project cost, including construction and design, land acquisition and fixtures.

$5.5 million

4. Total estimated cost of furnishings.

Minimal furnishing costs are included in the estimated cost of the project (tables/chairs for plaza):
   - $10,000 – Plaza
   - $26,000 – Trojan Way
5. Estimated time to substantial completion.

   12 months from beginning of project

6. Parking plan to support new or expanded facility.

   N/A

7. If this project will be phased, or is part of a phased, or multi-step, project, describe each proposed phase, the estimated timeline for subsequent phases, and the estimated cost of each phase.

   At this time, we do not anticipate that the project will be phased. Work on both the promenade and the plaza will take place concurrently.

8. Source of project funds. Where borrowing is proposed, include an estimated cost of financing.

   A private donor has committed to funding the estimated cost of the project ($5.5 million).
   Any changes in the project or cost overruns would be paid by UA Little Rock.

TO MEMBERS OF THE BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS COMMITTEE:

Mr. Sheffield Nelson

Dear Committee Members:

Arkansas law and Board of Trustees Policy 750.1 requires that the campuses, units and divisions adhere to certain facilities design standards to promote energy conservation for the construction of a major facility or major renovation, and for leased facilities. Metered data is to be compared using the first twelve (12) months of a building's operation with energy designed targets. A report is presented to the Board during the March meeting. If the average energy or water consumption over a one-year period after occupancy is greater than the baseline consumption determined in accordance with the applicable performance rating method of the American Society of Heating, Refrigerating, and Air Conditioning Engineers, a remediation plan is required for the building to achieve the required performance standards.

The attached report summarizes the required information for UA campuses with facilities that have completed at least the first year of operation. For this period, UAF is the only campus with qualifying projects to report to the Board. One project met the energy performance criteria while the other requires a remediation plan.

This is an information item. Campus representatives will be present to answer questions about the report.

Sincerely,

Donald R. Bobbitt, President

CAMPUS: University of Arkansas

PROJECT NAME: Frank Broyles Athletic Center (North End Zone)

Energy Modelling: email:

General Contractor: email:

Commissioning Agent: Corey Keen, Entegrity Partners  email: corey.keen@entegritypartners.com

Floor Area (GSF): 485,559

Baseline Energy Cost: $342,953

12 Month Energy Cost: $355,535

Project Type: New Construction

Energy Shortfall: -3.7%

Investigation Findings:

Sub-meters were not installed on this project which makes it difficult to differentiate energy usage of North Endzone from the rest of the stadium. The project had an inaccurate and uncalibrated energy model which did not reflect the actual usage of the stadium expansion. The energy model's electricity use has no correlation to weather while actual electricity performance does. Modeled steam usage is misrepresented and was significantly lower than actual usage. The energy model has not been calibrated for weather or occupancy which has a significant impact on energy usage.

Recommendations for Improvement:

After fundamental commissioning, substantial completion, and occupancy, the University of Arkansas' Commissioning agents returned to conduct a system optimization and energy efficiency evaluation of all major equipment within the project as part of their enhanced commissioning contract. They identified and addressed 16 performance issues between the Chilled Water and Heating Water Systems, 44 issues in various Air Handling Units, and re-evaluated all terminal units to ensure proper control performance. All issues were reviewed with and accepted by the University of Arkansas. For a facility of this size, the number of disparate uses (stadium operations, venue and event spaces, and general administrative offices), and the atypical operating schedule of the stadium, the evaluation team concluded that a 3.7% variance from baseline was well within the margin of error for an uncalibrated energy model. At this time there are no other cost effective actions that can be taken that would improve the energy model performance of the North Endzone / Broyles Athletic Complex.
CONSIDERATION OF REQUEST FOR APPROVAL TO ENTER INTO A FACILITY LEASE AGREEMENT FOR SPACE LOCATED AT 10915 NORTH RODNEY PARHAM ROAD, LITTLE ROCK, UAMS (ACTION)
TO MEMBERS OF THE BUILDINGS AND GROUNDS COMMITTEE:

Dr. Ed Fryar, Chair
Mr. Tommy Boyer
Mr. Steve Cox
Mr. Ted Dickey
Mr. Morril Harriman
Mr. Sheffield Nelson

Dear Committee Members:

Dr. Cam Patterson, Chancellor of the University of Arkansas for Medical Sciences, requests approval for UAMS to enter into a facility lease. The lease is for approximately 32,000 square feet of clinic space that will house an outpatient center with four clinics—Urology, Radiology, Outpatient Surgery, and Interventional Radiology. The space is located in West Little Rock at 10915 North Rodney Parham Road. The base rental rate is $32 per square foot with a 1.0 percent escalation every year. The additional rental amounts paid over the term of the lease include (1) UAMS’ proportionate share of operational expenses at an estimated amount of $3 per square foot and (2) the cost of the construction of improvements to the space.

The lease provides UAMS a $4,000,000 allowance for improvements to the space. Any amounts in excess of that allowance will be amortized over the initial term of the lease at a flat rate of 4% per annum. The total estimated cost of construction of the improvements is $7,000,000.

The initial term of the lease is 20 years with three renewal options of five years each. The total amount of the initial term of the lease, excluding any amortized payments for costs of construction in excess of the allowance, is $24,516,782.66. The total cost of the three renewal options is $21,595,888.72. Attached is a resolution for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Donald R. Bobbitt, President
Charles E. Scharlau Presidential Leadership Chair

PRESIDENT'S REPORT: DR. DONALD R. BOBBITT,
UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS SYSTEM
Item 13: Consideration of Request for Approval to Enter into a License Agreement with Celludot, LLC, AGRI (Action)
March 4, 2022

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Dear Trustees:

The University has filed for patent protection on technology relating to “Emulsions of Cellulose Nanocrystal-Encapsulated Active Ingredients.” This technology was developed by University of Arkansas, Division of Agriculture researchers Gurshagan Kandhola (Division of Agriculture post-doctorate student), Jin-Woo Kim (Division of Agriculture professor of biological and agricultural engineering) and Joseph Batta-Mpouma (Division of Agriculture senior graduate assistant). Subject to Board approval, the University has licensed the technology to an Arkansas company, Celludot, LLC, to commercialize the technology. Celludot plans to commercialize this intellectual property to the fullest extent by further validating, developing, and deploying the technology.

In consideration for licensing the patent and technology rights to the company, the University will receive three percent (3%) running royalties on gross sales made by Celludot. If Celludot engages in sublicensing, it will pay the University thirty percent (30%) of any income from a sublicense. The agreement contains liability and indemnity provisions which the General Counsel believes are protective of the University.

Professor Kim has an equity interest in the company and Joseph Batta-Mpouma is the chief executive officer. Pursuant to Board Policy 210.1, Gurshagan Kandhola, Jin-Woo Kim and Joseph Batta-Mpouma, as employees of the Division of Agriculture, have assigned their ownership rights in the patent and technology rights to the University and are entitled to receive a share of any revenues received from commercialization of the technology.

Because Professor Kim and Joseph Batta-Mpouma have direct financial interests in Celludot, questions of conflict of interest are raised. However, Act 875 of 1989, as amended, allows an institution of higher education to contract with a firm in which an employee of the institution has a financial interest if the contract involves intellectual property rights in which both the institution and the employee have interests. Under the law, the contract must, however, be approved by the Board of Trustees in a public meeting.

Based on the above considerations, Division Interim Vice President Chuck Culver recommends approval of this agreement. Because of the potential for developing this technology and the importance of promoting advances in nanocellulose, I concur with his recommendation. A proposed resolution approving the license agreement is attached.

Sincerely,

Donald R. Bobbitt, President
Charles E. Scharlau Presidential Leadership Chair

Item 14: Consideration of Request for Approval to Participate in the Child and Adult Care Food Program, UAPB (Action)
March 4, 2022

TO MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Dear Trustees:

Dr. Laurence B. Alexander, Chancellor of the University of Arkansas at Pine Bluff (UAPB), has requested approval for its daycare to participate in a USDA food program.

The mission of the Child and Adult Care Food Program (CACFP) is to provide funding for healthy meals and snacks to children receiving daycare. Eligible children at UAPB Child Development Center are five (5) years of age and under. CACFP plays a critical role in supporting the wellness, health, and development of children through the provision and preparation of nutritious food.

In Arkansas, CACFP is administered by DHS. The online application requires that the University undertake the following procedural steps: 1) seek the review and approval by the Board of Trustees to participate in the CACFP program; and 2) have the Chairman of the Board of Trustees sign a statement indicating the Board’s action. Board consideration this month permits the College to submit its annual CACFP application to DHS by June 1.

I concur with Dr. Alexander’s recommendation and have attached a proposed resolution for your consideration.

Sincerely,

Donald R. Bobbitt

Item 16: Consideration of Request for Approval of Extracurricular Camps, UAF and UAM (Action)
March 4, 2022

TO THE MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES

Dear Trustees:

Extracurricular camps are conducted on the various campuses of the University primarily during the summer months and holiday breaks. Authorization of use of University facilities for these camps by University employees for private compensation is permitted by State law (Ark. Code Ann.§ 6-62-401) and Board policy 1715.1. In addition, some camps may be conducted on University campuses by the University itself rather than by University employees for private compensation. In such cases, these camps may be approved by the Chancellor under campus policies.

The resolution approving the camps also includes language concerning the need for policies and training in reporting suspected child maltreatment and the conducting of background checks for personnel associated with these camps for which Board authorization is required as well as all camps sponsored by or conducted on our campuses.

A resolution is attached for your consideration. I recommend its approval.

Sincerely,

RESOLUTION

WHEREAS, the activities involved in the proposed extracurricular camps at the various campuses of the University of Arkansas present no conflict of interest with the mission and purpose of the institution; and

WHEREAS, the activities proposed will bring to campus a number of potential students who might enroll on campus as a result of their exposure to its facilities and its personnel while engaged in these activities; and

WHEREAS, the contemplated activities will generate funds to be paid to the University for housing and meals and for the use of other institutional facilities which will be used to help support the auxiliary functions of the campuses serving to enroll students;

NOW, THEREFORE, BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS THAT the Board fully supports the mission and purpose of the various campuses hosting extracurricular athletic and academic camps, and generally grants permission to the employees and campuses seeking to conduct during 2022-23 the extracurricular camps set out below, and further approves the fees as shown below.

BE IT FURTHER RESOLVED THAT each campus whose employees are conducting the aforesaid camps pursuant to Board Policy 1715.1 as well as each campus that may host or allow use of facilities for other camps that do not require the express approval of the Board shall make certain that policies and contractual provisions are in place to assure that all applicable laws and regulations dealing with mandatory reporting of suspected child maltreatment are followed, that appropriate staffing patterns are utilized, that personnel involved in the conduct of such camps receive instruction in applicable policies, procedures, laws and regulations regarding protection of children, and further that campus officials shall assure that persons involved in the conduct of such camps have undergone criminal background checks (including registered sex offender checks). The President may furnish guidelines for matters to be included in such policies and contractual provisions.

Item 17: Consideration of Request for Approval of Revisions to Board Policies, All Campuses and Units (Action)

CONSIDERATION OF REQUEST FOR APPROVAL OF REVISIONS TO BOARD POLICIES, ALL CAMPUSES AND UNITS (ACTION)
TO MEMBERS OF THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES:

Dear Trustees:

In keeping with our ongoing efforts to review and update Board of Trustees and UA System policies to align with current law and practice, attached are proposed amendments to four Board policies. Below is a listing of the policies with explanations regarding the reasoning for the proposed revisions. These proposed policy revisions were shared with the Chancellors and Chief Executive Officers for distribution on their campuses and posted on the UA System website.

The proposed policy changes include:

- Revised Board Policy 230.1, Authority to Commence Legal Action (incorporates current BP 220.1, Restraining of Disturbances and Demonstrations) – The proposed amendments combine two policies that delegate to the president the authority to institute legal action on behalf of the Board with specific limitations. The draft raises the limit on damages or relief involved for the President to consult with the Board chairman from $10,000 to $25,000. Regarding restraining disturbances and demonstrations, the draft provides that a chief executive of a campus may institute such legal action in consultation with the General Counsel if the President is unreachable.

- Revised Board Policy 340.1, Related Entities – The proposed amendments add to the requirements in current policy regarding the creation of related entities to support the campuses, divisions and units of the UA System. The amendments require any officer or employee seeking to explore the formation of such an entity to notify the chief executive officer of the campus, division or unit. The amended policy also provides that dissolving a separate legal entity owned or controlled in part by the university must be done with consent of the president who may bring the matter to the Board for approval. The policy draft also gives the president the authority to establish procedures regarding related entities.

- Revised Board Policy 475.1, Emeritus Status - The proposed amendments allow emeritus status to be granted to a retiring employee at a rank or title previously held for a substantial period where appropriate, and specifies that a chancellor or CEO may be awarded emeritus status when they conclude service in that role. The amendments also update language regarding retirement incentive programs to align with current terminology and allow campuses to establish policies regarding benefits of emeritus status.
Revised Board Policy 720.1, Naming Buildings for Individuals or Entities – The proposed revisions reference Arkansas law regarding building naming and establish a formal process for naming buildings for individuals or entities, including requiring review by the General Counsel’s Office of potential legal issues involved with naming a building, before such naming is submitted to the Board for approval.

I recommend approval of the policies as presented. A proposed resolution for your consideration follows:

BE IT RESOLVED BY THE BOARD OF TRUSTEES OF THE UNIVERSITY OF ARKANSAS THAT the following Board Policies are hereby revised as presented:

BP 230.1, Authority to Commence Legal Action (formerly entitled Authority for President to File Suit Within Limit of $10,000 and combines former BP 220.1, Restraining of Disturbances and Demonstrations)
BP 340.1, Related Entities
BP 475.1, Emeritus Status
BP 720.1, Naming Buildings for Individuals or Entities

Sincerely,

Donald R. Bobbitt
President
Charles E. Scharlau Presidential Leadership Chair

AUTHORITY TO COMMENCE LEGAL ACTION

I. Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to delegate authority and set limitations related to instituting legal action on behalf of the Board of Trustees in the best interests of the University of Arkansas and its campuses, divisions, and units.

II. Contract Claims and Other Causes of Action

Subject to the limitation below, the President has the delegated authority to institute legal action on behalf of the Board for damages or other relief in contract claims or to assert other causes of action available to the Board. Except for routine debt collections matters that have been contracted to a third party, in any matter where damages or other relief is in excess of $25,000 or where other causes of action are available to assert, the President must first consult with the Chairman of the Board, or in the absence or unavailability of the Chairman, the Vice Chairman of the Board. In such event, the Board shall promptly be furnished a copy of any pleading filed and the President shall promptly report to the Board on such action at its next meeting.

III. Restraining of Disturbances and Demonstrations

The President has the delegated authority to institute legal action on behalf of the Board to enjoin and restrain any disturbance or demonstration on, or in the vicinity of, University property provided such action is necessary to protect the good order of the institution or the welfare of its students and employees, and such action is supported, in the opinion of the General Counsel, by the facts and law. Such actions may also be initiated by the chief executive officer of a campus, in consultation with the General Counsel, but only if efforts to contact the President are not successful and immediate action is required to protect the institution or the welfare of its students and employees.

January 31, 1992 (Revised)
January 28, 1977
I. Purpose

The purpose of the policy is to establish the requirements for creating and maintaining affiliates related to the Board of Trustees of the University of Arkansas and any of the campuses, units or division governed by the Board.

II. General Policy Statement

The business and mission of the University of Arkansas is generally carried out through its officers and employees acting within the scope of their employment. When appropriate, the University has carried out its business and mission through agreements with a limited number of affiliated entities approved by the Board of Trustees or executed pursuant to delegated contracting authority. The Board has also permitted and encouraged certain non-profit corporations which, although legally separate, exist to support the campuses, divisions, units and programs within the University of Arkansas System. To avoid the potential for conflict of interest, liability and possible detriment to the name, symbols and proprietary interests of the University, the formation of any entity to be related to the University for the purpose, or with the expectation, of doing business with the University, raising financial support for the University or carrying out the mission and functions of the University, is subject to these requirements.

III. Requirements

1. Any officer or employee who seeks to explore the formation of any such entity is required to notify the chief executive officer of the campus, division, or unit, and obtain such officer’s prior approval.

2. No officer or employee of the University shall be a director, incorporator, officer, member, manager, or partner or shareholder of any business organization or other entity organized to do business with the University, to support the University or to carry out the mission of the University (whether pursuant to a contract, grant or otherwise) without the prior written approval of the President of the University after review by the General Counsel.

3. A separate legal entity owned or controlled, in whole or in part, by the University, and any other entity that may otherwise be reflected in the financial statements of the University under applicable accounting rules, may only be created or dissolved with the consent of the President, who may exercise the discretion to bring the matter to the Board of Trustees for approval. If the matter is not presented to the Board for approval, the President must report the matter to the Board at its next regularly scheduled meeting. In all such instances, prior to submitting the matter to the President, the proposal and all relevant documents must be reviewed by the General Counsel.

IV. Authority of the President

The President is authorized to establish procedures for related entities to be established or operate with the approval of the University.

EMERITUS STATUS

I. Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to establish guidelines and procedures regarding the awarding of emeritus status to employees at any campus, division, or unit of the University of Arkansas System.

II. Eligibility for Emeritus Status

A. In recognition of distinguished service to the University, retiring employees may be awarded emeritus status at the rank or title held at the time of retirement. Where deemed appropriate by the board, emeritus status may be granted to a retiring employee at a rank or title previously held for a substantial period where such service concluded in good standing.

In order to be considered for emeritus status, an individual must be appropriately recommended, in good standing, and meet at least one of the following conditions:

1. The retiring individual is age 65 or older and has at least five years of continuous service with the University.

2. The retiring individual is age 62 or older and has at least 10 years of continuous service with the University.

3. The retiring individual has at least 20 years of continuous service with the University.

4. The retiring individual has elected to retire under a voluntary retirement incentive program established under Board Policies 425.6 or 425.7.

B. Chancellors and other chief executive officers may be awarded emeritus status in the title when they conclude their service as chancellor or CEO.

III. Procedures for Awarding Emeritus Status

In order for emeritus status to be conferred by the Board of Trustees, the individual must be recommended by the chief executive officer of the campus, division, or unit. The President will recommend the final list of individuals to receive emeritus status.

NAMING BUILDINGS FOR INDIVIDUALS OR ENTITIES

I. Purpose

The purpose of this policy is to establish a protocol for naming any University building or facility for an individual or entity. This policy does not apply to building or facility names that do not incorporate the name of an individual or entity.

II. General

Subject to the limitations set out in Ark. Code Ann. § 25-1-121, a University building or facility may be named in honor of an individual, who, during his or her lifetime, gave significant service to the University. This includes the naming of a building for an emeritus faculty or staff member who has spent a large part of his or her professional career in the service of the University and who, during a certain period of service, made noteworthy contributions to the progress and welfare of the University. Additionally, the Board endorses in principle the naming of a building for an individual who, from his or her personal resources, has made a substantial contribution, in relation to total costs, toward construction of said building.

III. Process

The naming of buildings or other facilities may, on occasion, have legal consequences. For this reason, any campus, division or unit seeking to name a University building or facility in honor of an individual or entity shall first consult the Office of General Counsel to identify potential legal issues. If no legal impediments are identified the campus, division or unit shall submit a request to be considered by the Board of Trustees. The Buildings and Grounds Committee of the Board of Trustees shall review the recommendations and, unless the Board has delegated such decision to the Buildings and Grounds Committee, shall submit to the Board its recommendation for the naming of a building that it determines to be in the best interest of the University. Any changes in the name of a building or facility shall also be submitted to the Board for consideration.

The naming of interior spaces of facilities, such as rooms, may also have legal consequences, but do not require approval by the Board. A campus, division or unit seeking to name an interior space in honor of an individual or entity should first consult the Office of General Counsel to identify potential legal issues.

III. Restraining of Disturbances and Demonstrations

The President has the delegated authority to institute legal action on behalf of the Board to enjoin and restrain any disturbance or demonstration on, or in the vicinity of, University property provided such action is necessary to protect the good order of the institution or the welfare of its students and employees, and such action is supported, in the opinion of the General Counsel, by the facts and law. Such actions may also be initiated by the chief executive officer of a campus, in consultation with the General Counsel, but only if efforts to contact the President are not successful and immediate action is required to protect the institution or the welfare of its students and employees.
RELATED ENTITIES

I. Purpose

The purpose of the policy is to establish the requirements for creating and maintaining affiliates related to the Board of Trustees of the University of Arkansas and any of the campuses, units or division governed by the Board.

II. General Policy Statement

The business and mission of the University of Arkansas is generally carried out through its officers and employees acting within the scope of their employment. When appropriate, the University has carried out its business and mission through agreements with a limited number of affiliated entities approved by the Board of Trustees or executed pursuant to delegated contracting authority. The Board of Trustees has also permitted and encouraged certain non-profit corporations which, although legally separate, exist to support the University of Arkansas and its campuses, divisions, units and programs. The President is authorized to set out in a Universitywide Administrative Memorandum those supporting or related entities which operate within the approval of the University.

The Board of Trustees of the University of Arkansas recognizes the potential for conflict of interest, liability and possible detriment to the name, symbols and proprietary interests of the University when separate legal entities outside any entity to be related to the University are created with the assistance or encouragement of officers and employees of the University for the purpose, or with the expectation, of doing business with the University, raising financial support for the University or carrying out the mission and functions of the University is subject to these requirements.

2. No officer of employee of the University shall be a director, incorporator, officer, member or shareholder of a corporation, manager or partner or shareholder of any business organization or other entity organized to do business with the University, to support the University or to carry out the mission of the University (whether pursuant to a contract, grant or otherwise) without the prior written approval of the President of the University after review by the General Counsel. Nor shall any officer or employee of the University be a member or director of a limited liability company, a partner of any form of partnership or otherwise hold any position or office in any other legal entity organized for the purpose of doing business with the University, supporting the University or to carry out the mission of the University without the prior written approval of the President of the University after review by the General Counsel.

3. A separate legal entity owned or controlled, in whole or in part, by the University, and any other entity that may otherwise be reflected in the financial statements of the University under applicable accounting rules, may only be created or dissolved with the consent of the President, who may exercise the discretion to bring the matter to the Board of Trustees for approval. If the matter is not presented to the Board for approval, the President must report the matter to the Board at its next regularly scheduled meeting. In all such instances, prior to submitting the matter to the President, the proposal and all relevant documents must be reviewed by the General Counsel.

IV. Authority of the President

The President is authorized to establish procedures for related entities to be established or operate with the approval of the University.
